

Apollo 17 Astronauts Head For The Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men of Apollo 17 streaked toward the moon today, leaving behind the cares of a cranky computer that delayed their journey for nearly three hours. They left on man's last planned 20th century lunar voyage with a liftoff lightshow which turned earth's night to noon.

"Good show, babe! Little late, but good show!" cried a relieved and elated commander Eugene A. Cernan as he and crewmates Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans rocketed away from Cape Kennedy. "We had to work at it," said Mission Control. "Glad we made it."

"Guess who else is," said a happy Jack Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist who became the first American scientist in space.

After the launch, the first ever in darkness, the astronauts orbited earth twice and then were propelled on a path toward the moon, where they hope to find the missing links in man's knowledge of lunar evolution.

The smooth flight was blemished by only two small, nagging, but not serious problems. An alarm system in the cabin of the spacecraft was sounding without reason whenever the astronauts threw certain switches. Cernan also reported for a time that not all the latches which lock the command module and the lunar module together had operated.

Mission Control said the alarm system problem was not serious enough to affect the mission and the uncooperative latch later took hold.

It was a more serious problem earlier, however, that delayed Apollo 17's launch. Officials on the ground said the lost time would be recovered by a speeded up voyage to lunar orbit and Monday's moon landing would occur at the originally scheduled time.

A computer which refused to acknowledge a manual signal from launch control technicians caused the Apollo 17 countdown to stop less than a half minute before the huge Saturn 5 rockets were to ignite.

Battling against time, engineers at Cape Kennedy and at the Marshall Spaceflight Center at Huntsville, Ala.,

quickly developed and tested a plan to outwit the confused computer. The new system worked and Apollo 17 blazed into space at 12:33 a.m. EST, less than an hour before the ever-changing position of sun, earth and moon would have forced a 24-hour postponement.

Despite the countdown, the launch was smooth and spectacular.

While hundreds of thousands of persons watched from Cape Kennedy viewing areas, the 36-story Saturn 5 rocket lifted slowly, majestically from its nest of concrete and steel, climbing into a nearly clear, black Florida sky.

For more than six minutes, the rocket's 2,200-foot tail of flame burned away the darkness and lighted the sand flats and Atlantic beaches where the awed crowds watched.

After orbiting earth for nearly three hours, the astronauts re-ignited the third stage of their Saturday 5 rocket. The powerful thrust sent them hurtling out of earth's gravity grasp and put them firmly on their way to the moon.

About an hour later, at 5:20 a.m.

EST, the astronauts freed their command ship from the third-stage rocket, which is called the S4B. The spacemen turned their cone-shaped craft and linked its pointed nose with the lunar module, which still nested in the S4B.

After securing three latches which had earlier failed to engage properly the astronauts activated a spring system which ejected the combined command ship America and lunar module Challenger from the S4B.

"Oh, boy," said Evans happily "Here we go. It came right out of there."

The S4B spent rocket stage was maneuvered away from the command ship and then ordered by radio signals to vent its remaining oxygen and hydrogen.

The venting sent the rocket hurtling away, toward the moon. The S4B will crash into the lunar surface on Sunday, causing seismic waves that will excite instruments left on the moon by previous Apollo missions.

OK Ohio Criminal Code

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Senate approved, 21-7, Wednesday a far-reaching bill, updating Ohio's 157-year-old criminal code while a House committee dealt at least a temporary setback to a state lottery.

Immediately after Senate passage of the criminal code—seven years in the making—it went back to the House, which refused to concur in Senate changes. The measure now goes to a conference committee to work out differences.

The lottery resolution garnered only five of the seven votes needed to get it out of the House Rules Committee, but the issue is expected to still make it on the May primary ballot.

House Speaker Charles Kurfess, R-4 Perryburg, can move it next week if he desires, but at least one of his Republican colleagues, Rep. Robert Netzel, R-7 Laura, said it would make little difference.

"Whether we get it out or not, it will come out in January in time to be on the May ballot," said Netzel. Democrats will be in control of the new House, which takes office Jan. 1.

New Transportation Chief Proves Nixon Mystery Man

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon today named Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe to be ambassador to Italy and selected California oil company executive Claude S. Brinegar to succeed him in the second-term Cabinet.

The announcements at the President's mountaintop retreat reduced to one—attorney general—the Cabinet post yet to be covered in Nixon's preparations for a new term. Sources have reported that Richard Kleindienst will be retained as attorney general.

Volpe, former Massachusetts governor, is a charter member of the Nixon Cabinet.

In taking the Rome post, Volpe will replace a career diplomat, Graham Martin, who will be "receiving another important assignment in the administration in the second term," said presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler.

Brinegar has no previous experience in government, but Ziegler said "he has made his mark as a highly qualified manager."

Officials at this mountaintop retreat, where Nixon came Tuesday to work on his reorganization plans, announced Wednesday that Nixon will keep Earl Butz as Agriculture secretary but will replace Commerce Secretary Peter G.

things, a pay raise bill for legislators and county officials.

The criminal code bill would legalize such current crimes as homosexuality and adultery by adults in private as well as provide a way Ohio could retain the death penalty in certain cases, such as the killing of a police officer or a public official.

A floor amendment sponsored by Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, added air piracy to the list of crimes punishable by death. The bill separates the role of juries and judges on the death penalty issue.

Under the proposal, juries would rule only on the guilt or innocence of defendant while the matter of life or death would be resolved by a three-judge panel using a list of "mitigating circumstances" outlined in the proposal.

Senate Minority Leader Anthony Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, led an unsuccessful effort to get the 278-page bill back in the Senate Judiciary Committee for reworking. His efforts failed on an 18-10 vote.

Sen. Max Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, said "nothing useful would be served" by holding the bill over to the next session. He said it has undergone intensive study since 1965.

Dennis proposed another successful floor amendment that deleted a schedule of fees to be paid attorneys for representing the poor, as required by a U.S. Supreme Court decision. He said the matter could be handled in 1973.

Only six senators among the 28 on hand voted for an amendment by Sen. Oliver Oakes, D-27 Akron, to remove all capital punishment provisions from the bill.

While awaiting the Senate to take action on the criminal code, the House passed three bills without a dissenting vote.

They would require all foreign insurance holding companies to pay Ohio's 2.5 per cent maximum tax; exclude part-time musicians and day-camp employees from workmen's compensation laws and require more frequent state inspections of boilers.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee received a sub-committee report calling for pay raises of 11 to 22.5 per cent for county officials, depending on the county's size and population, and a boost for legislators from $12,750 to $14,000 a year.

Remember Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — It was 31 years ago today when planes from a Japanese carrier armada crippled the U.S. Pacific Fleet here, but the anniversary of the attack is being observed quietly.

One scheduled event to mark the day was the lowering of colors at sunset and a wreath laying aboard the USS Arizona memorial by 20 members of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association. No speeches were planned.

The Navy, which planned no ceremonies for this year, said the normal one-hour weekday boat tours of the harbor and the shuttle boats to the memorial will be conducted as usual.

Veterans organizations and private citizens were invited by the Navy, however, to present wreaths at the memorial during the day.

Deputy Nabs Men Looting Supply Store

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Earl Kuhn charged two Lucasville men with the theft of over $2,500 worth of merchandise after he caught them stacking the equipment outside Contractors and Industrial Supply 3:15 a.m. Thursday.

"I checked the building about 1 a.m. on a patrol, and then came back about 3 a.m. From the road (Route 22) I could see the chain saws missing from the front display window," the deputy said.

After calling dispatcher Frank Wood for additional deputies, Kuhn parked his patrol car in an adjacent car lot and set off on foot, armed with a shotgun, to the rear of the building.

"When I turned the corner, the two were carrying the items to the other side of the driveway and stacking them up," he said. "They apparently had just tossed them out the door and were piling them in a neat stack so they could pull their car in and make a quick getaway."

But the men, seeing the deputy with the shotgun, quickly surrendered.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was the first unit to arrive and assisted Deputy Kuhn in taking the men to the Pickaway County Jail where they were booked for breaking and entering an uninhabited building in the night season and grand larceny.

They are Russell Daniel Cummings, Jr., 28, Lucasville, and Charles Emory Burchett, Jr., 20, Route 5, Lucasville. Cummings, married, listed his occupation as a truck driver and Burchett is a laborer.

They are expected to be arraigned in Circleville Municipal Court today.

Stolen items recovered included eight chain saws, a set of welding gauges, an industrial sander, drill, and other power equipment and two hoists.

Bloated White House Staff Spurred Nixon Cuts

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon's move to slash the White House staff is spurred by little-noticed statistics showing that executive-office employment has doubled in his first term.

Nixon himself acknowledged last week that the "White House staff has grown rather like Topsy." He promised that as he shakes up the bureaucracy and trims personnel "the biggest cuts will be made in the White House staff itself."

The President gave no figures on White House employment or on the size of the proposed cutback. Neither would White House spokesmen.

But an examination of monthly reports published by the Civil Service Commission shows that since Nixon moved into the White House in January 1969 the executive-office staff has increased from 1,748 to 3,562.

More than 1,000 of the new employees were added to the executive office rolls during a 12-month period when federal agencies faced a presidentially ordered 5-per-cent cutback.

The sharp upswing in executive-office employment also bucked the government-wide trend. When Nixon came into office, there were 2,948,393 federal civilian employees, nearly 200,000 more than now.

The columns of fine print in the monthly personnel reports include the more than 600 employees of the White House office—the aides and advisers closest to the President—as well as staffers in a variety of offices, councils, and commissions grouped under the heading "the executive office of the President."

White House officials say—and the statistics confirm—that a portion of the increase can be attributed to new functions taken on by the executive office.

These include, for example, the Cost of Living Council set up to police wage-price controls. At last report, the council had grown from 0 to 966 employees in less than a year.

Officials also cited a change in bookkeeping methods as a reason for the upswing in employment statistics.

Until 1970, they said, presidents had obscured the size of their personal staffs by having salaries paid through other agencies or through the White House "special projects" fund.

Nixon ordered that all his White House employees be listed as such, one spokesman said, "in the interest of candor and accuracy."

Thus, the reported size of the elite White House office staff jumped suddenly from about 250 to about 500. At last report it had grown to 606.

Major increases occurred elsewhere in the executive offices unrelated to any change in bookkeeping methods.

Henry Kissinger's National Security Council lists 80 employees, about double the size of the pre-Kissinger staff.

John Ehrlichman's Domestic Council staff has grown from 25 employees in late 1970 to 50 but still is smaller than other lesser known executive offices.

For example, the Office of Telecommunications Policy lists 68 employees, the Office of Science and Technology reports 79, the Council on Environmental Quality, 68, and the Council of Economic Advisers, 58.

The Office of Management and Budget, which has assumed a broader watchdog role over government spending and employment, has seen its own payroll go up from 535 early in Nixon's administration to 689 at last report.

The latest figure of 3,563 executive-office employees does not include 2,300 persons employed by the poverty-fighting Office of Economic Opportunity, which, in some government publications, is listed under the President's executive office.

If OEO employees are included, executive-office employment reaches about 5,800, or 1,000 more than the comparable figure when Nixon took office and initiated policies and proposals that have resulted in slimmed-down OEO operations.

While the President has not specified precisely where White House personnel cuts will be made, he has said they will be substantial.

Talking on Nov. 27 to reporters, Nixon said: "I felt from the beginning that it was important that the White House establish the example for the balance of government in terms of cutting down on personnel, doing a better job with fewer people."

"Consequently, while there will be personnel cuts across the government, throughout the departments, the biggest cuts will be made in the White House staff itself."

When Franklin D. Roosevelt began his third term nearly three decades ago, records show the White House office staff numbered 51.

When Harry Truman was midway through his term the staff numbered 243 and there were 1,100 other employees in executive offices.

The total inched upward during Dwight Eisenhower's years in the White House, reached 1,500 when John Kennedy was president, topped 1,700 under Lyndon Johnson and now exceeds 3,500.

No Viet Peace Agreement Yet, Paris Sources Claim

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho resumed their secret talks today shortly after an American spokesman said there might be "disappointments and setbacks" in the pace of final peace negotiations.

Before the private peace session resumed in the Paris suburb of Gif-sur-Yvette, the acting U.S. delegate, Heyward Isham told the semipublic peace talks that prospects for peace were brighter but added: "The negotiating process has not yet reached its final conclusion."

Nguyen Minh Vy of North Vietnam told the weekly meeting that the Saigon government's objections to the draft Kissinger and Tho worked out last month have "again pushed the negotiations into a deadlock."

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh of the Viet Cong denied speculation in the Paris press that a peace agreement was imminent.

Kissinger and Tho maintained their usual news blackout around their negotiations.

But Isham reported progress, saying:

"Most of the major problems involved in the settlement have been resolved in a manner that reflects credit on the good will and seriousness of both sides."

Mrs. Binh was the only one of the chief delegates attending the session today. U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter was reported suffering from a cold and severe laryngitis; Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam was presumably preoccupied with the Kissinger-Tho meetings, which he also attends, and Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam also sent his deputy.

Several Paris newspapers and the government-controlled French Radio speculated that Kissinger and Tho might conclude a cease-fire agreement today. This speculation apparently stemmed from French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann's decision to return from the NATO meeting in Brussels for a luncheon meeting with Kissinger today.

Kissinger requested the meeting,

Arctic Front In North Drops Mercury

Frigid arctic weather settled over the northern half of the nation early today, pushing temperatures to 20 below zero across the northern plains, unleashing gale force winds over the eastern Great Lakes and putting a chill into the Atlantic coastal states from the Carolinas to Maine.

The temperature dropped to 20 below in Montana, Wyoming, Minnesota and North Dakota. Minneapolis set a record with -20, beating a previous -13 set in 1936.

The storm that troubled the northwest yesterday moved today into the interior, where snow was falling over much of the northern and western portions of the intermountain area. Heavy snow warnings were issued for the mountains of Southern California and for parts of Wyoming and Colorado.

Gales over Lake Ontario and Lake Erie were expected to deposit up to 5 inches of snow in the vicinity of the lakes.

Temperatures in the East dropped 35 to 40 degrees during the night from Wednesday's 60s, and there was little chance of a warming trend. A cold-wave warning was issued for most of the Ohio Valley and adjacent areas of the Atlantic Coast states.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 28 at Glasgow, Mont., to 76 degrees at Key West, Fla.

Butz Hints He May Resign As Ag Chief Before Long

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had just re-enlisted Earl L. Butz as secretary of agriculture Wednesday and the quick-tongued farm boss was asked about it.

"He didn't say for how long, did he?" Butz remarked to newsmen. "It may be only 'til he can get a successor, I don't know."

It was taken as a jest, typical of the man, and there were chuckles. But was it only another Butzism?

Some people, including a few of his associates, think Butz may be tempted to quit of his own accord in the near future while he is still 'way ahead in terms of farm popularity.

But a few minutes later, warming to his subject, Butz said he was very flattered and proud to continue on the Nixon team.

B52s Hit Red Truck Depot

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52s made one of their most concentrated bombing attacks against North Vietnam Wednesday and today, blasting a big enemy truck park just above the demilitarized zone with more than 600 tons of high explosives.

About 20 Stratofortresses dropped their bombs on a jungle area around the little town of Ben Quang, where convoys of North Vietnamese supply trucks were concealed beneath the trees, the U.S. Command reported.

Nine more B52s struck within four miles of the truck park, hitting tons of military supplies awaiting transport to South Vietnamese battlefronts.

U.S. sources reported mountain passes feeding the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos have been virtually blocked by earlier air raids and the main Communist supply route has been diverted to the DMZ.

The number of trucks in the Ben Quang Park, about six miles above the DMZ and close to the coast, was not reported but it was described as a "very heavy concentration."

Six other B52 strikes zeroed in on enemy supply caches in the DMZ and nearly 40 were flown against troop concentrations and supplies in Quang Tri province, just below the demarcation line. A total of about 60 strikes were flown in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command reported that its fighter-bombers flew 90 air strikes in the North Vietnamese panhandle Wednesday.

Wholesale Price Rise Worrisome

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in wholesale prices accelerated sharply in November, dampening the Nixon administration's hopes that inflation has been brought under control, government officials said today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the wholesale price index rose six-tenths of one per cent, both on an adjusted and unadjusted basis, last month. It was the biggest increase in wholesale prices since July and it reversed a recent trend on slower price increases at the wholesale level.

The index was pushed up by price increases of fresh vegetables, eggs and dairy products, cars and furniture, lumber, leather and some textile products. Also contributing to the rise were increases in the prices of coal, hides and skins, and natural gas.

The report means that it will be difficult for President Nixon to reach his target of slowing the rate of inflation to at least 3 per cent by the end of the year. Rises in wholesale prices are usually reflected quickly in retail prices.

portant news about his cease-fire negotiations with Tho, the Hanoi Politburo member he has been meeting with secretly for the past year.

"After 12 months, I'm just getting comfortable in this job," he said.

Over the long haul, his job in the second Nixon term is fairly well-defined: new farm legislation, implementation of new rural-development programs, and the nuts-and-bolts of spending an $11-billion annual budget.

But the immediate future is cloudy. What does Nixon mean when he says the Agriculture Department will undergo a major shakeup as the White House announced Wednesday? Butz refused to comment about specific plans for overhauling the century-old department. There will be changes, he said, including personnel reductions and switches as well as organizational face-lifts.

Details of those, Butz said, will be announced by the White House in due course.

Butz was chosen to succeed Clifford M. Hardin a year ago, as his work on the campaign trail later proved, to help reelect Nixon. A year ago, farmers were grumbling about low prices and Republicans feared repercussions at the polls.

Butz fell heir to a remarkably beneficial series of events.

Livestock prices began climbing, eventually to record highs, bumper crops came along for harvest, and inflation began easing a bit.

Bed-Wetting Service Taxable

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A service designed to cure bed wetting is not entitled to exemption from the state sales tax, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

In ruling on an appeal by state Tax Commissioner Robert Kosydar, the court overturned the Board of Tax Appeals' reversal of the assessment order against William E. Koch Jr. of Lebanon.

Koch's service consists of furnishing a mechanical device connected with a battery which, placed on a child's bed and activated by moisture, causes buzzers to wake the child and a parent.

The parent fills out a "report" card and Koch returns an appropriate answering letter selected from a pre-typed series covering all anticipated situations.

In order for the service to be entitled to a tax exemption, the court ruled, the overall effort of the person rendering the service must be substantial.

In this case, it said, the substantial service was being rendered by the device, itself.

Chinese Cook Drug Importer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Chinese cook who picked up a kimono that also contained about $750,000 of heroin is being held here under $50,000 bond.

Federal officials charged the man, Sit Ki Kwok, 28, with importing 28 ounces of heroin. They said the package with the kimono and heroin in the lining was mailed to Kwok's restaurant.

Agents said the heroin was discovered during a routine check by U.S. custom agents in Seattle, Wash. A spokesman said Kwok entered the country illegally in 1970 as a crewman on a ship that arrived at Long Beach, Calif.

Two Hurt In Wreck

Two people were injured 6:50 p.m. Wednesday when James L. Lands, 25, Route 1, Stoutsville, drove his car through a stop sign at the Circleville-Tarlton and Circleville-Kingston Roads.

Audrey M. Schwalbach, 40, Route 1, and a passenger in her car, Karen S. Tilton, 15, Route 1, were both treated and released from Berger Hospital's emergency room for contusions and abrasions.

Deputy Sheriff's John Bost and Jim Deal charged Lands with failing to stop at a stop sign after their investigation indicated he pulled into the path of the Schwalbach car, which was traveling north on the Circleville-Kingston Road.

Butz Hints He May Resign As Ag Chief Before Long

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had just re-enlisted Earl L. Butz as secretary of agriculture Wednesday and the quick-tongued farm boss was asked about it.

"He didn't say for how long, did he?" Butz remarked to newsmen. "It may be only 'til he can get a successor, I don't know."

It was taken as a jest, typical of the man, and there were chuckles. But was it only another Butzism?

Some people, including a few of his associates, think Butz may be tempted to quit of his own accord in the near future while he is still 'way ahead in terms of farm popularity.

But a few minutes later, warming to his subject, Butz said he was very flattered and proud to continue on the Nixon team.

B52s Hit Red Truck Depot

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52s made one of their most concentrated bombing attacks against North Vietnam Wednesday and today, blasting a big enemy truck park just above the demilitarized zone with more than 600 tons of high explosives.

About 20 Stratofortresses dropped their bombs on a jungle area around the little town of Ben Quang, where convoys of North Vietnamese supply trucks were concealed beneath the trees, the U.S. Command reported.

Nine more B52s struck within four miles of the truck park, hitting tons of military supplies awaiting transport to South Vietnamese battlefronts.

U.S. sources reported mountain passes feeding the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos have been virtually blocked by earlier air raids and the main Communist supply route has been diverted to the DMZ.

The number of trucks in the Ben Quang Park, about six miles above the DMZ and close to the coast, was not reported but it was described as a "very heavy concentration."

Six other B52 strikes zeroed in on enemy supply caches in the DMZ and nearly 40 were flown against troop concentrations and supplies in Quang Tri province, just below the demarcation line. A total of about 60 strikes were flown in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command reported that its fighter-bombers flew 90 air strikes in the North Vietnamese panhandle Wednesday.

Wholesale Price Rise Worrisome

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in wholesale prices accelerated sharply in November, dampening the Nixon administration's hopes that inflation has been brought under control, government officials said today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the wholesale price index rose six-tenths of one per cent, both on an adjusted and unadjusted basis, last month. It was the biggest increase in wholesale prices since July and it reversed a recent trend on slower price increases at the wholesale level.

The index was pushed up by price increases of fresh vegetables, eggs and dairy products, cars and furniture, lumber, leather and some textile products. Also contributing to the rise were increases in the prices of coal, hides and skins, and natural gas.

The report means that it will be difficult for President Nixon to reach his target of slowing the rate of inflation to at least 3 per cent by the end of the year. Rises in wholesale prices are usually reflected quickly in retail prices.

portant news about his cease-fire negotiations with Tho, the Hanoi Politburo member he has been meeting with secretly for the past year.

"After 12 months, I'm just getting comfortable in this job," he said.

Over the long haul, his job in the second Nixon term is fairly well-defined: new farm legislation, implementation of new rural-development programs, and the nuts-and-bolts of spending an $11-billion annual budget.

But the immediate future is cloudy. What does Nixon mean when he says the Agriculture Department will undergo a major shakeup as the White House announced Wednesday? Butz refused to comment about specific plans for overhauling the century-old department. There will be changes, he said, including personnel reductions and switches as well as organizational face-lifts.

Details of those, Butz said, will be announced by the White House in due course.

Butz was chosen to succeed Clifford M. Hardin a year ago, as his work on the campaign trail later proved, to help reelect Nixon. A year ago, farmers were grumbling about low prices and Republicans feared repercussions at the polls.

Butz fell heir to a remarkably beneficial series of events.

Livestock prices began climbing, eventually to record highs, bumper crops came along for harvest, and inflation began easing a bit.

Bed-Wetting Service Taxable

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A service designed to cure bed wetting is not entitled to exemption from the state sales tax, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

In ruling on an appeal by state Tax Commissioner Robert Kosydar, the court overturned the Board of Tax Appeals' reversal of the assessment order against William E. Koch Jr. of Lebanon.

Koch's service consists of furnishing a mechanical device connected with a battery which, placed on a child's bed and activated by moisture, causes buzzers to wake the child and a parent.

The parent fills out a "report" card and Koch returns an appropriate answering letter selected from a pre-typed series covering all anticipated situations.

In order for the service to be entitled to a tax exemption, the court ruled, the overall effort of the person rendering the service must be substantial.

In this case, it said, the substantial service was being rendered by the device, itself.

Chinese Cook Drug Importer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Chinese cook who picked up a kimono that also contained about $750,000 of heroin is being held here under $50,000 bond.

Federal officials charged the man, Sit Ki Kwok, 28, with importing 28 ounces of heroin. They said the package with the kimono and heroin in the lining was mailed to Kwok's restaurant.

Agents said the heroin was discovered during a routine check by U.S. custom agents in Seattle, Wash. A spokesman said Kwok entered the country illegally in 1970 as a crewman on a ship that arrived at Long Beach, Calif.

Deaths

JAMES EARL LINDSEY

James Earl Lindsey, four months, Springdale Lake Estates, Belton, Mo., died Wednesday in Licking County Memorial Hospital, Newark.

Born Aug. 2, 1972 in Myrtle Beach, S. C., he was the son of Duane and Nancy Barlow Lindsey who survive.

Two Hurt In Wreck

Two people were injured 6:50 p.m. Wednesday when James L. Lands, 25, Route 1, Stoutsville, drove his car through a stop sign at the Circleville-Tarleton and Circleville-Kingston Roads.

Audrey M. Schwalbach, 40, Route 1, and a passenger in her car, Karen S. Tilton, 15, Route 1, were both treated and released from Berger Hospital's emergency room for contusions and abrasions.

Deputy Sheriff's John Bost and Jim Deal charged Lands with failing to stop at a stop sign after their investigation indicated he pulled into the path of the Schwalbach car, which was traveling north on the Circleville-Kingston Road.

Newark's Troubles

Can an American city plead bankruptcy, and what would happen if it did? These questions have been interesting subjects for discussion for years, as one after another of the larger cities finds itself caught in a serious financial bind.

The question becomes more than academic with the report that Newark, N. J., city officials are at least exploring bankruptcy possibilities. The city is in major trouble, with Mayor Kenneth Gibson estimating the budget deficit at $60 million, partly offset by federal grants.

There is talk of a property tax increase of at least 20 percent, which would push Newark into one of the highest tax categories in the nation, and past the "point of no return" by the mayor's calculations.

In addition, at least three federal assistance programs have come under investigation for alleged irregularities. The General Accounting Office at Washington is investigating the Model Cities program, and local audits are underway of HUD and Labor Department programs in the city.

The mayor and other officials do not see an immediate crisis, claiming there are no problems which cannot be solved by increased state assistance and local efforts. But the question looms larger these days, what happens if they cannot?

Our No. 1 Priority

By JEFFREY HART

James Michener is not much of a novelist, but he is a perceptive and thoughtful citizen. His book on Kent State was entirely admirable. He is a Bucks County (Pa.) Democrat and he represents one of the really valid strands of thought and feeling in the majority party. In a widely read and widely ranging article he has briefly put his finger on what should be the Number One priority for the Nixon Administration as it turns to our domestic concerns.

The Number One priority is not poverty and it is not fashionable. No paperbacks in the university book stores deal with it. No demonstrations of any importance have occurred on its behalf. And yet it is crucial, cuts across all party, class and ethnic lines, and, especially, is a gut issue for the vast American middle-class constituency that elected Richard Nixon. James Michener put it very well:

"American society, which is much to my taste in most matters, has one frightful weakness. It has not devised any sensible way of caring for its older people, nor does it seem capable of solving this problem."

There it is, and the emperor indeed has no clothes.

In a brutally simple but also superficial way, the problem is one of money. No ordinary American family can afford the $25 per day plus medical expenses charged by the average nursing home for the grandparent who cannot be accommodated at home.

As medical science prolongs life in an unprecedented way, these expenses can be enormous and also morally debilitating. But the deeper issue is less financial than, to put it one way, contextual.

The development of a modern society, seemingly irreversible, has been such that families become "nuclear," as the sociologist put it: two parents, plus children. Architecturally, this means an apartment or a small house. Which means no place for the fire for old men. And no fire, in fact. The older "extended" family is dead, for the most part.

The rich and moderately rich have been able to solve this problem to a substantial extent. Communities for retired people on a rather impressive scale exist. The life in them is active and interesting; they have tennis courts and so on; they have cultural activities; and of course they have excellent health services. All you have to do is put down $35,000 to buy in, plus around $300 a month for room and board.

But for the enormous majority who cannot afford that kind of thing, the problem remains untouched.

I think it is clear that exactly here is the place for the next great act of social invention in modern times. It will have to be comparable in character to the creation of the modern labor unions.

You will recall that, historically, industrialization fractured traditional society. Workers who had been part of the older communal structure, protected by tradition and custom, found themselves in Manchester or Liverpool or Pittsburgh to be naked individuals on a labor market. In time, they constructed new functional communities in the form of unions, in order not to be alone. Nineteenth-century sociologists, such as Max Weber, predicted the formation of such unions sheerly on the basis of perceived need, and long before they actually existed.

Increased Social Security payments, health plans and so on will not in the long run be the answer for old people. What we require here is an act of social creativity, in some way, deeply rooted in ethics and the Western tradition.

Mr. Nixon and Mr. Ehrlichman: the ball is in your court.

Robes Stolen From Church

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The choir of the Central Christian Church here won't be wearing robes during the Christmas services—thanks to the thieves who swiped them from the church basement, church officials said.

The 20 gold and purple robes, valued at $400, disappeared along with a portable radio and can't be replaced immediately on the church's budget. The robes had been purchased three months ago.

"Someone in real need must have taken them," said the Rev. James E. Hannah, the church's pastor.

The children are so fond of animals that they unhesitatingly approach them in the country.

Are there any diseases that can be acquired with this kind of contact?

Mrs. J.S., Wyo.

Dear Mrs. S.:

Very recently, an article appeared in the Journal of the American Medical Association reporting the frequency of rabies in wild animals.

The general attitude has been that domestic animals like cats and dogs were the greatest carriers of rabies. Today, however, the fox, the skunk, bats, and bobcats are known to be potential carriers of rabies.

Wild skunks particularly are frequent carriers of the disease.

The fun of family hiking and camping must not be spoiled by permitting children to come close to, or to handle, strange animals.

Bricks In Toilet Tanks Help To Save On Water

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Six months ago, Tilly Spetgong, a serious gal with a goofy idea, walked into City Council carrying a brick. Councilman Steve Morgan ducked under his desk.

"He must have thought I was going to throw it," she said, "but all I wanted was to put one into every toilet tank in town."

The unusual proposal to save water stunned Council, but it was approved. And it so convulsed this residential community of 65,000 across the Delaware River from Philadelphia that it swiftly accepted the scheme — to become probably the first in America with a brick in nearly every toilet.

The idea is that the brick will take up space in the toilet tank, displacing a small amount of water that is not necessarily needed for flushing.

"It was a wacky idea that got people laughing, and also made them aware that people pollute and people can conserve," said Mrs. Spetgong, a 44-year-old mother of two who used to

It is virtually impossible for a doctor to be aware of each infringement of the no-smoking rule.

Undoubtedly, a gentle request by one patient to another should free the waiting room of the unpleasant concentration of smoke.

I do believe that the heavy thick smoke and odor of pipes and cigars in a small crowded room are an imposition on everyone who is in it.

Even in trains and planes rules against this are being actively enforced.

Is it possible for a person who has had a brain tumor removed to again lead a normal life?

There are so-called "silent" areas of the brain where a tumor can grow without producing early recognizable symptoms.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are going heavily into debt again after imposing a Spartan-like regimen on themselves beginning in the summer of 1969, when economic and other fears overpowered the buying instinct.

In October alone they added credit of $1.92 billion, a record for any month. Excluding home mortgages, it brought consumer credit to nearly $150 billion and the peak of the surge may still be many weeks away.

The greatest single category of credit is for the purchase of automobiles, although the more recent increases quite likely reflect in part the activities of early Christmas shoppers.

Regardless of how the money is being used, it is considered significant because it indicates a fundamental change in consumer psychology — from fear to confidence, from lethargy to enthusiasm.

The disease that afflicted consumer buying had been accompanied by a surge in the rate of savings that peaked at 8.6 per cent of take-home pay in the second quarter of 1971.

Since that time the rate has been declining, although there were indications it was leveling off at a rate around 6.4 per cent. A drop of that magnitude adds at least $15 billion a year to sales.

It is because of this enormous market power that retailers in recent years have been especially attendant to consumer moods and why the study of consumer attitudes and expectations has risen in importance.

Just a little more than three decades ago relatively few Americans had what is called discretionary spending power—that is, a choice in how their money was to be spent. For millions of people, all money earned was committed to necessities.

Consumers today have an increasing amount of discretionary income and, as a result, their behavior is less predictable in retail markets. Even when able to spend, it has been found, they may not be willing to spend.

Many explanations for resumption of spending have been offered, and to some degree all may be factors:

—The rise in real buying power as inflation abates and more people are at work.

—A feeling by many Americans that domestic and international tensions are easing which, say consumer psychologists, may be translated into a greater willingness to make long-term spending commitments.

—A feeling of affluence, or at least of greater financial security, resulting from the buildup of savings.

Barking Dog Bares Dope

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The case of the barking dog will be closed here now that Howard C. Brown has been sentenced to an Ohio Penitentiary term on drug pushing charges.

Brown was sentenced Tuesday to 15 to 45 years in the penitentiary on charges of possessing heroin for sale, possessing cocaine and barbiturates and of carrying a concealed weapon.

Police said the conviction stemmed from a complaint six months ago about Brown's dog barking. Brown failed to show up to answer the complaint, and police were ordered to arrest him.

In the course of investigation, police found some $15,000 on Brown and in his car and a quantity of heroin, cocaine and barbiturates, police said.

Brown has also had probation revoked on a 1967 manslaughter conviction, has been slapped with a $215,000 lien by the Internal Revenue Service for failure to pay income taxes, and has pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to a charge of possessing heroin for sale.

There is no plant or animal life as we know it on the planet Saturn because the temperature is always around minus 250 degrees Fahrenheit and the atmosphere does not contain enough oxygen to support life.

Council anted up $2,000 to buy 34,000 extra-hard beige bricks, the kind that won't break up in any kind of water and enough for every toilet in the town's 17,000 homes.

Last weekend, about 175 persons — mostly teen-agers — distributed 27,000 bricks, two to a house. They will finish this Saturday.

Of her idea, Mrs. Spetgong said: "It's off-beat enough to get people talking and, hopefully, make them aware of how involved all of us are in this pollution crisis."

"If the average family of four flushes a total of 20 times a day we would save 34 million gallons of water every year in Cherry Hill."

Marriage Vows Exchanged In Candlelight Ceremony

MRS. THOMAS JOSEPH BOEHM

Miss Anne Claire Spicer and Lt. Thomas Joseph Boehm were married Dec. 2nd in an evening candlelight ceremony at First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Henry Walters officiated at the 7:30 p.m. wedding of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Spicer, 133 E. High St., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Boehm, Pompano Beach, Fla.

The bride and groom exchanged their vows before an altar decorated with four seven branch candelabra and Christmas greens accented with various shades of rose and white carnations and chrysanthemums combined with holly. The center aisle was trimmed with tall hurricane candles tied with ivory ribbons and pine branches.

A program of nuptial music was presented by organist, Mrs. Theodore Huston.

For her wedding the bride selected a formal length gown of ivory silk organza over ivory satin featuring a wedding band collar and long tapered sleeves. The princess skirt was attached to an empire waist and flowed into a sweeping chapel train. Wide self-embroidered Chantilly lace accented with pearls adorned the bodice and formed scallops around the hem. Her chapel length veil was of ivory illusion decorated with lace and pearls gathered to an embroidered lace headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of white miniature carnations and baby's breath centered and outlined with minuet roses.

Miss Valerie Jamra, Columbus, served as maid of honor. A sorority sister of the bride, she was attired in a floor length gown of fiesta rose velvet. It was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline edged with a double ruffle. The long full sleeves fastened to wide cuffs. The skirt was softly gathered. About her waist was a sash of moss green velvet. She carried a colonial bouquet of miniature pink carnations, white pompons and pink rosebuds edged with holly.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Stephen Spicer, Grove City, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Roger Short, Marysville, Tenn.; Miss Mary Anne Yates, Pittsburgh, Pa., wore identical gowns and carried identical bouquets to that of the maid

Brenda Schwalbaugh To Wed Gary Lee McNichols In January

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Schwalbaugh Jr., Route 1, Laurelville, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Brenda Sue, to Gary Lee McNichols, son of Mrs. Charles Goodman, Route 1, Laurelville, and Mr. Edget McNichols of Columbus.

The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Laurelville High School. Her fiancé is a graduate of Laurelville High of honor. Their sashes were of rose colored velvet. All wore pearl pendants on a slender silver chain — gifts of the bride.

Mr. Brian Favero, San Francisco, California served as best man. Seating guests were the couple's brothers, Mr. Richard Boehm, Cleveland and Mr. Stephen Spicer, Grove City; Mr. Glenn Prokesh, Cleveland and Mr. Richard Hunt, Davisville, R. I.

For the wedding of her daughter Mrs. Spicer wore a long formal gown of aqua lace and crepe with matching accessories.

Mrs. Boehm was dressed in a floor length gown of pink colored chiffon accented with sequins and matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white roses, white pompons and holly leaves.

A champagne reception was held in the Officer's Club, Lockbourne Air Force Base. The buffet table was decorated with a centerpiece of red carnations and Christmas greens. Similar arrangements adorned the silver candelabra. On a separate table the four tiered wedding cake was surrounded with holly and topped with a miniature bouquet of carnations and greens to match the buffet table decorations.

Mrs. Stephen Watt, New Concord, presided at the guest registry.

For a wedding trip to Barbados, British West Indies, the bride wore an emerald green velvet pants suit with a corsage of pink rosebuds. After December 17th the couple will reside at 10 Lawton Ave., North Kingstown, R. I. 02852.

The new Mrs. Boehm is a graduate of Circleville High School and holds a BS degree in speech education from Ohio State University. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

Lt. Boehm, also a graduate of Ohio State earned a bachelor degree in Micro-Biology. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. Currently, he is serving with the United States Navy, Quonset Point, R. I.

Special guests at the wedding were aunts of the groom, Mrs. Martha Panek, Pasadena, Calif. and Mrs. Earl Putzier, Albuquerque, N. M., and a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Gary Mock, St. Petersburg, Fla. Commander R. W. Phillips and several members of Lt. Boehm's squadron VS-22, Quonset Point, R. I., were present.

The rehearsal dinner for members of the wedding party was held at Pickaway Arms hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Boehm, parents of the bridegroom.

Man From ERG Investigates Pollution Victims, Sources

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Richard A. Copeland is to pollution what James Bond was to SMERSH.

Copeland is a pollution detective, on call from industries around the nation who need a definite answer about just what's being polluted and who's polluting what.

Copeland, the president of Environmental Research Group, Inc., in Ann Arbor, Mich., sweeps in armed with neutron activation analysis, gas chromatography and computers to find those answers.

Many of the calls are routine, he said.

"In some cases industries will come to us and ask us to find out how much they are polluting the water," he said. "Others will come and say they are going to build a plant and ask us to tell them about its potential environmental effects."

But the jobs are sometimes bizarre, too, he added, noting, "We never know what next week's phone call is going to bring."

Several months ago, he said, the company was summoned by a hospital where a number of employees had gotten sick after eating in the hospital cafeteria. A disgruntled employee's revenge, the hospital suggested.

Not so, however, Copeland said. Chemical analysis of the gravy proved that it had been contaminated by detergent.

In another case, ERG was summoned to clear the name of an industrial plant accused by citizens of polluting the air with noxious smells. Copeland and his coworkers set up automatic sniffing devices, eventually pinpointing the source of the odors—a different plant in the area.

Like any respectable private dick in the movies, Copeland and ERG have also tangled with the conflict between the client and the law.

Part of ERG's job is appearing in court as an expert witness for companies charged with pollution, Copeland said, and sometimes the companies are surprised to discover ERG's findings back up the charges.

But Copeland, in Cleveland to boost his company during an international pollution engineering congress and exhibition, said most industries in the country have seen "the handwriting on the wall" and that their attitudes toward pollution control are changing.

"They are beginning to realize that it will cost more money to fight than to just go ahead and clean up."

Big Bear Elects Mack Secretary

Lawrence E. Mack, a native of Circleville, has been elected to the office of secretary of the board of directors of Big Bear Stores Company (AMEX).

Mack also holds the office of senior vice president of the board.

He replaces Roger A. Yaple, who is retiring. R. D. Wickerham, controller, has been elected assistant secretary.

In other business, the board declared a 27 cents per share cash dividend on its common stock to be paid on January 3, 1973 to stockholders of record at the close of business on December 15, 1972.

Wayne E. Brown, president, said that estimated sales and other revenue for the 40 weeks ending December 2, 1972 will reach $178.3 million compared with $153.2 million for the 39 weeks ending November 27, 1971.

For the 14-week quarter this year, estimated sales and other revenue will be $65.7 million compared with $52.4 million in the 13-week period of last year.

Big Bear's 53rd super market and 10th Harts' Family Center opened on schedule last month in Reynoldsburg.

Man From ERG Investigates Pollution Victims, Sources

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Richard A. Copeland is to pollution what James Bond was to SMERSH.

Copeland is a pollution detective, on call from industries around the nation who need a definite answer about just what's being polluted and who's polluting what.

Copeland, the president of Environmental Research Group, Inc., in Ann Arbor, Mich., sweeps in armed with neutron activation analysis, gas

Big Bear Elects Mack Secretary

Lawrence E. Mack, a native of Circleville, has been elected to the office of secretary of the board of directors of Big Bear Stores Company (AMEX).

Mack also holds the office of senior vice president of the board.

He replaces Roger A. Yaple, who is retiring. R. D. Wickerham, controller, has been elected assistant secretary.

In other business, the board declared a 27 cents per share cash dividend on its common stock to be paid on January 3, 1973 to stockholders of record at the close of business on December 15, 1972.

Wayne E. Brown, president, said that estimated sales and other revenue for the 40 weeks ending December 2, 1972 will reach $178.3 million compared with $153.2 million for the 39 weeks ending November 27, 1971.

For the 14-week quarter this year, estimated sales and other revenue will be $65.7 million compared with $52.4 million in the 13-week period of last year.

Big Bear's 53rd super market and 10th Harts' Family Center opened on schedule last month in Reynoldsburg.

chromatography and computers to find those answers.

Many of the calls are routine, he said.

"In some cases industries will come to us and ask us to find out how much they are polluting the water," he said. "Others will come and say they are going to build a plant and ask us to tell them about its potential environmental effects."

But the jobs are sometimes bizarre, too, he added, noting, "We never know what next week's phone call is going to bring."

Several months ago, he said, the company was summoned by a hospital where a number of employees had gotten sick after eating in the hospital cafeteria. A disgruntled employee's revenge, the hospital suggested.

Not so, however, Copeland said. Chemical analysis of the gravy proved that it had been contaminated by detergent.

In another case, ERG was summoned to clear the name of an industrial plant accused by citizens of polluting the air with noxious smells. Copeland and his coworkers set up automatic sniffing devices, eventually pinpointing the source of the odors-a different plant in the area.

Like any respectable private dick in the movies, Copeland and ERG have also tangled with the conflict between the client and the law.

Part of ERG's job is appearing in court as an expert witness for companies charged with pollution, Copeland said, and sometimes the companies are surprised to discover ERG's findings back up the charges.

But Copeland, in Cleveland to boost his company during an international pollution engineering congress and exhibition, said most industries in the country have seen "the handwriting on the wall" and that their attitudes toward pollution control are changing.

Southwestern Ohio Farmers Find Way To Beat Mud

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An extension agricultural engineer at Ohio State University reports some farmers in the southwestern part of the state have found a way to beat the mud and get their corn and soybean crops harvested.

Delbert Byg said the farmers are using combines and rice tracks which normally are used to provide flotation for machines working on rice soils that are soft and slushy.

Many Ohio fields are in that condition this year because of heavy rains. Losses from unharvested crops have been estimated as high as $1.3 billion.

"Ledford bought two rice track combines, plus track drive assemblies to convert four combines locally," Byg said.

Byg reported that Ralph Robison shelled corn on the Billie Walker farm near Clarksville. "With his six row, 30-inch header, he was moving right along at three miles an hour."

"The tracks were leaving depressions of only one to two inches in the soupy ground."

Byg said Robison has harvested more than 600 acres of grain with his rice paddy combine since Thanksgiving.

Ledford sold one of his imported rice combines to Harry Flowers of Midland, who is using it in 800 acres of soybeans, Byg said.

A fringe benefit of using the rice combine to harvest soybeans, Byg said, is the fact that it runs level on tracks, allowing cutting close to the ground and an increased yield of two or three bushels an acre.

Nashville To Get Big-Time Rock

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Nashville—the town of country fiddlers, mountain pickers and the high hill white—could be on the verge of breaking loose with its first big-time rock group.

It's no secret that the Nashville Sound has been reaching far and near in recent times. What used to be home for only hardcore country music now harbors country rock, country blues, popular, folk and a youngish version of bluegrass.

GOP State Executives Seek Power

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The new chairman of the Republican Governors Association said today his colleagues must take the lead to broaden the base of the GOP by bringing in more blacks so that it becomes "the party of the open door."

"Ours cannot be a for-Whites-only party," Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia told the final session of the Republican Governors Conference.

"As a Southerner, I am particularly conscious of the need to bring more black representation into the Republican ranks," he said.

"Ours cannot be a for-the-uneasy and for-the-unpoor party. I reiterate, ours must be the party of the open door, open to all segments of American life."

Holton's prepared speech came a day after the GOP governors decided to seek an early meeting with President Nixon to press their case for a larger say in party affairs, a move reflecting their dissatisfaction with the amount of attention their views have been accorded in the past.

Although this has been a familiar theme at governor's conferences of both parties, the governors at this meeting seem more determined to use their position as leaders of their state parties to gain greater influence within the national Republican party.

Holton, who is succeeding Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken as chairman of the Republican Governors Association, said it is important to remember "that we governors are the leaders of our party in our respective states and we must use that leadership to energize the party and, above all, to broaden its base."

Nine thousand non-Europeans have settled in Australia in each of the last three years.

Yet there's one thing Nashville never has produced: a widely recognized rock group.

Those days, too, promise to end. The first to do it could be a six-man group called "Jubal" — handpicked from Oklahoma, Alabama and Tennessee about a year ago by Combine Music Co.

Its members have backgrounds delving into the classical, blues and country music fields, as well as rock. The end product reflects their diversity—with everything from a foot-stomping boogie beat, to a soft rock to lyrical ballads.

It's this striking aspect about Jubal which, more than anything else, has enabled them to emerge with a sound emulating hard, chunky rock but maintaining a Top 40 appeal.

All of them are songwriters. And when six songwriters put their heads together and decide to join the world of performers, something's got to give. It has. And it's good.

Says Randy Cullers, drummer-vocalist: "Our look at success is different. We didn't get together and say, 'Now what can we do that's different?'"

"We're just out to play good music," interrupts lead guitarist Alan Rush. Cullers, 28, grew up in Oklahoma in a home filled with country-western music. His parents were so far removed from rock that he never dared tell them he was a rock drummer who had several songs published.

Rob Galbraith, 28, gives the group its greatest diversity. The roots of his musical experience are buried deep in blues. His ballads, together with solo shots on the acoustic guitar and piano can hold an audience spellbound—as if it's flabbergasted to see the sudden shift from rock to soft work.

Rush, 27, also was reared in an Oklahoma country music atmosphere. Through it all, though, he's emerged with a guitar that thrashed the hard slide sounds or the chordy rock 'n roll beat.

Ed "Lump" Williams, 25, of Birmingham, is the group's bass guitarist, something he does with a rhythm and blues flair reminiscent of the Deep South black man's music.

The group's most musically unorthodox character is Bobby Ogden, who until a few years ago was strictly a classical musician. Now concentrating on the organ, Ogden's repertoire of music is heavily felt in the group's sound.

The lead vocalist is Terry Dearmore, 25, also an Oklahoma product.

The greatest influence on his style quite obviously reverts to the sound made famous by Stills, Nash and Young—and often deals with metaphors. Terry doubles on the harmonica and rhythm guitar.

Jubal's second album is in the making—a disc which embodies a distinct group sound as opposed to their first album, which primarily reflects the work of far-reaching talent trying to get their heads together. On that first album, entitled "Jubal," is a song called "Courage of Your Convictions," which later was made into a Hollies song.

"Things are now beginning to equalize and we're jelling together," said Rush of the second album.

"The impact of the group has really increased with our latest stuff. We weren't a real live in the flesh group at the time we cut the first album. We were more or less studio musicians," injected Cullers.

"This was put together as an outlet for songwriting material. Then we went on to get some unity, and it's really worked in the second album," Cullers added.

"Ours cannot be a for-whites-only party," Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia told the final session of the Republican Governors Conference.

"As a Southerner, I am particularly conscious of the need to bring more black representation into the Republican ranks," he said.

"Ours cannot be a for-the-unyoung and for-the-unpoor party. I reiterate, ours must be the party of the open door, open to all segments of American life."

Holton's prepared speech came a day after the GOP governors decided to seek an early meeting with President Nixon to press their case for a larger say in party affairs, a move reflecting their dissatisfaction with the amount of attention their views have been accorded in the past.

Although this has been a familiar theme at governor's conferences of both parties, the governors at this meeting seem more determined to use their position as leaders of their state parties to gain greater influence within the national Republican party.

Holton, who is succeeding Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken as chairman of the Republican Governors Association, said it is important to remember "that we governors are the leaders of our party in our respective states and we must use that leadership to energize the party and, above all, to broaden its base."

Nine thousand non-Europeans have settled in Australia in each of the last three years.

Yet there's one thing Nashville never has produced: a widely recognized rock group.

Those days, too, promise to end. The first to do it could be a six-man group called "Jubal" — handpicked from Oklahoma, Alabama and Tennessee about a year ago by Combine Music Co.

Its members have backgrounds delving into the classical, blues and country music fields, as well as rock. The end product reflects their diversity—with everything from a foot-stomping boogie beat, to a soft rock to lyrical ballads.

It's this striking aspect about Jubal which, more than anything else, has enabled them to emerge with a sound emulating hard, chunky rock but maintaining a Top 40 appeal.

All of them are songwriters. And when six songwriters put their heads together and decide to join the world of performers, something's got to give. It has. And it's good.

Says Randy Cullers, drummer-vocalist: "Our look at success is different. We didn't get together and say, 'Now what can we do that's different?'"

"We're just out to play good music," interrupts lead guitarist Alan Rush.

Cullers, 28, grew up in Oklahoma in a home filled with country-western music. His parents were so far removed from rock that he never dared tell them he was a rock drummer who had several songs published.

Rob Galbraith, 28, gives the group its greatest diversity. The roots of his musical experience are buried deep in blues. His ballads, together with solo shots on the acoustic guitar and piano can hold an audience spellbound—as if it's flabbergasted to see the sudden shift from rock to soft work.

Rush, 27, also was reared in an Oklahoma country music atmosphere. Through it all, though, he's emerged with a guitar that thrashed the hard slide sounds or the chordy rock 'n roll beat.

Ed "Lump" Williams, 25, of Birmingham, is the group's bass guitarist, something he does with a rhythm and blues flair reminiscent of the Deep South black man's music.

The group's most musically unorthodox character is Bobby Ogden, who until a few years ago was strictly a classical musician. Now concentrating on the organ, Ogden's repertoire of music is heavily felt in the group's sound.

The lead vocalist is Terry Dearmore, 25, also an Oklahoma product.

The developments of the future in space travel, aircraft, and ecology are a major source of speculation and adventure in children's literature. Perhaps it is through these books that we are inspiring our future astronauts, pilots, and scientists.

According to the new books on space exploration which have just arrived in the Sneek-a-Peek room, shuttle travel to hotels and laboratories in space will some day be a reality. "Into the Unknown" is about space shuttles and space stations. In this book Don Dwiggins has detailed the planning, purpose, and construction of hotels and laboratories in space. There is also information about super-sonic planes included in this book. Dozens of photographs and illustrations make this interesting and comprehensible reading for young people.

"Skylab" by Charles Coombs shows what life in a space laboratory would be like. Coombs discusses the structure of the space lab and outlines the course of the eight-months mission planned for it. This is a book which combines research with imagination in the well-detailed description of a future mission.

Wheelchair Basketball Tilt Planned

Richard E. Plum, campaign chairman for the Pickaway County Easter Seal Society, announced plans for a wheelchair basketball game to be held during the campaign.

Plum announced the plans during the December meeting of the society, held at the headquarters located at 216½ S. Court St. He noted the planned game is a first for Pickaway County.

Mrs. Richard Warren, president of the society, conducted the business meeting and welcomed two new members, Mrs. David Daley and Mrs. David Norman.

Reports were head from Mrs. Paul Frank, Mrs. Montford Kirkwood and Mrs. Robert Cullums.

Mrs. Warren gave the monthly service and equipment loan program report, which consisted of two com-modes, a traction unit and a hospital bed.

A special wheelchair was purchased for loan. The society sent a contribution to the Franklin County Easter Seal Center because two children from Pickaway County are going to school and receiving therapy there.

The next meeting is scheduled Jan. 2.

of Apollo 11 on the moon. This book has large print and beautiful color photographs of the moon and the astronauts on their mission. It would be an excellent introduction to the study of space travel that a second or third grade student could read by himself.

"You Will Go to the Moon" by Mae and Ira Freeman is also a book for primary-grade students. It lets the reader imagine himself on a trip to the moon, and tells him what he would see and do on his journey. It is well illustrated by Lee Ames.

"Flying Today and Tomorrow" by John Gabriel Navarra is a young people's book about the future of air travel. It tells of the new developments in aircraft and shows the young reader what he can expect to see — and travel in — in tomorrow's skies.

"Eye on the Sky" by Creighton Peet is a book about the most exciting and difficult job in the airport — the aircraft controller. It explains the necessity for aircraft control, shows the controller's duties and skills, and tells of the new inventions being developed to help him in his work.

During Christmas Vacation Mrs. Rae and Mrs. David Amey will be presenting puppet shows in the Sneek-a-Peek Room. They will be for pre-school and elementary-grade students. Watch this column for the dates and times of these shows!

Jailbreak Artist Nabbed

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Escape artist John R. Torpey has added another jail to the list of institutions that couldn't hold him this time in Geauga County, according to the sheriff's department.

Deputies, who said Torpey has escaped or attempted to escape from nearly every jail he has been in during the past 12 years, said Tuesday's freedom was brief. Torpey was recaptured 19 minutes after the escape began.

He was being held in the Geauga County jail on charges of breaking and entering and petty larceny in Lake County. Deputies said he was transferred here after two unsuccessful attempts to escape from the Lake County jail.

Capt. Daniel D. Pokorny of the sheriff's office said Torpey overpowered a deputy Tuesday and then ran from the jail into the woods.

Pokorny said law enforcement officials picked him up about a mile from the jail. Torpey, wearing white shirts and pants, was "disguised as a snowbank" when located, he said.

Torpey's list of jails breaks includes the Beverly Hills, Calif., jail in 1960, the Cuyahoga County jail twice, in 1964 and 1969, and the Ohio Reformatory in Mansfield in 1965, officials said.

'Top Gun University' Aids 550 Navy Carrier Sailors

ABOARD THE USS RANGER AT SEA (AP) — When 550 sailors aboard the aircraft carrier Ranger in Vietnam waters wash off the grime of duty in a war zone, they don their thinking caps. "Top Gun University" is in session.

The sea-bound scholars are participating in a project aimed at letting them catch up on studies they would be pursuing if they were wearing civvies instead of Navy blue.

"Ranger's school program constitutes what is believed to be the largest single educational project ever attempted at sea," said a spokesman for the ship's educational services office.

The Alameda, Calif.-based carrier passed through the Golden Gate Nov. 15 for a minimum six-month tour in Vietnam with 5,000 officers and enlisted men. Five professors from Chapman College of Orange, Calif., were among the ship's civilian complement.

The name "Top Gun U." stems from the time the Ranger scored tops in Pacific Fleet marksmanship competition.

Among the sailors enrolled, 101 are seeking high-school diplomas. The others are taking college instruction in fully accredited courses in English, history, biology, mathematics and psychology.

Registration for the government-financed $81,000 college program was completed early last month as the ship conducted training missions off the coast of Southern California.

Dr. Lloyd Childers, director of the Ranger college program, said then that the 10-week courses are ac-

The Election of New Directors will be held December 18, 1972 at the Fairgrounds Office from 4:00 P.M. until 8:00 P.M., at which time the ballots will be counted. The result will be made known at the Annual Meeting of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society, 8:00 P.M., December 18, 1972.
 Members of The Agricultural Society must declare their candidacy for the office of a Director of the Board of Directors of The Society by filing with the Secretary of the Agricultural Society, a petition signed by ten or more members of the Agricultural Society who are residents of the county or district concerned in which the Agricultural Society is organized, at least seven days before the annual election of directors is held. Only regularly nominated candidates who have met the filing requirements will be eligible as a director.
 Directors are to be elected from the City of Circleville and from the following townships — Circleville, Perry, Washington, Darby, Jackson, Harrison and Walnut.

Grange News

STAR GRANGE

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner, members of Scioto Valley Grange, were guests of Star Grange Tuesday evening when it met in the Monroe School auditorium. Mr. Bumgarner was a delegate to the State Grange Convention and gave a very interesting and instructive report of the Convention.

Harold Furniss, master, presided over the business session and heard the various reports. A card was read from the Worthy Deputy Ernest Bidwell which said that Dec. 2 and 9 had been set as work days at Friendly Hills Camp and members were urged to go if possible. It was announced that the deadline for the membership drive is Feb. 3. Several Grange histories are still available.

The next meeting, Dec. 12, will feature our annual Christmas Party and $1 gift exchange. A covered dish supper will precede the meeting at 7 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

At the close of the meeting lovely refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Loring Stoer.

CHS Wintertime Concert Slated

An invitation is extended to everyone to attend the winter concert presented Dec. 14 by the Circleville High School Music Department.

The program, featuring choral and instrumental groups, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Both traditional and contemporary melodies will be included in the entertaining evening.

Popular selections as well as Christmas tunes will highlight the program which has been an annual event at CHS.

There will be no admission charge; the only charge will be your interest.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Fret, Seldom Is Often Enough

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your letter about the high school girl (signed "Miss Four Eyes") who was upset because she had to wear glasses. I am enclosing a clipping I have had around for some time. It might interest you and Miss Four Eyes. It is a reported PTA meeting, written by Mrs.

Brotherhood Concerned About Youth

The Brotherhood of Circleville Area Police Officers Assn. has been trying to take an active part in the problems of the youth of the community, according to Sgt. Larry Pontious of the local police department.

One of the major problems facing local youth is the lack of organized entertainment and recreational facilities. The association has taken this need as its long range program, Pontious said.

For the past several years the association has worked with and sponsored little league baseball in the community. This undertaking has meant there has been contact with hundreds of youths.

The association is sponsoring a teenage dance at the 4-H and Grange Building on the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Dec. 29.

Hoping eventually to establish a community Youth center, the association has many more projects in mind.

In order to do this, the association plans to sponsor functions to raise money for the goal while at the same time provide enjoyable entertainment for the entire community.

H.G.F., occupation, housewife:

"Last night there were fiftysix mothers present at the PTA meeting. Only two were absent. I noticed that fifty-three mothers were wearing glasses. The school enrollment is 118 children, giving each mother two and a fraction kids, and more 'fractions' were visible from where I sat.

"I concluded that if the poem 'Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses,' is accurate, then seldom is often enough."

UTAHEYE DOCTOR

DEAR DOCTOR: Thanks for a real day-brightener.

DEAR ABBY: While shopping recently in one of the better department stores, I was horrified when I heard the bloodcurdling screams of a hysterical child. I then saw a terrified youngster about 4 years old being held down by her mother while another woman was piercing the child's ears!

I learned that this is a new service the store offers when one purchases a pair of earrings for pierced ears.

Although I understand it is done by a nurse, I think it is very rude and inconsiderate to impose the sight and sound of this barbaric procedure on other shoppers.

I'd like to know what you think of such a promotion to sell earrings.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD

DEAR NORTH: I think that to subject a small child to such an ordeal is cruel. And to subject shoppers to the "sight and sound" of it is poor business.

In Olympia," the 27-year-old wife and mother who was perfectly happy just being a wife and mother and wanted nothing else from life. I say this is great for her, and probably will be for the next 10 years. But what happens when her children are grown, and want to live their own lives? I have seen too many of my age group (I am 20) struggling with the demands of mothers who cling to them because they have nothing rewarding or fulfilling in their lives, apart from children.

My mother has been active in her own career for as long as I can remember, but our house has always been immaculate and I have had all the attention I wanted from her. In fact, I keep no secrets from my mother, and I have a better relationship with her than my friends whose mothers made raising their children their only concern.

I suggest that instead of watching talk shows all day, "Happy In Olympia" start learning to do something else, so that when her children grow up and leave her-as they surely will-she won't suddenly feel useless and lost, which is the sorry lot of too many middle-aged women today.

THINKING AHEAD

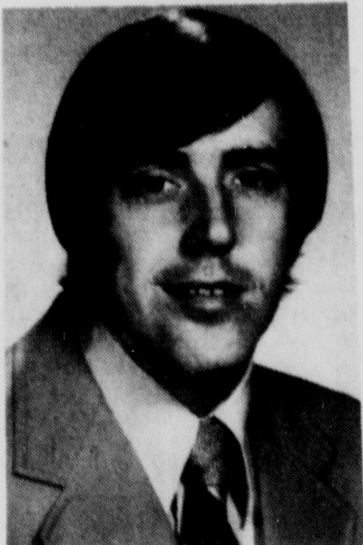

DEAR THINKING: You're thinking all right. Motherhood is a noble career, but it rarely lasts over 25 years. then what?

DEAR ABBY: Some of the methods used to discourage dogs from attacking amused me.

In our town we also have leash laws, but very few people pay any attention to them.

Our paper boy told me that he was bitten by a dog which was running

Airbag Testing To Be Redesigned

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A federal court has temporarily deflated the protective airbags the federal government had ordered all American auto makers to install in their new cars beginning in 1975.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration must re-design testing procedures for the airbags, known in official terminology as passive, or automatic, devices.

Mandatory installation of the airbags, which are designed to inflate automatically and provide a safety cushion for passengers in motor vehicles which strike other objects with a certain level of force, had been scheduled for Aug. 15, 1975.

OSPE Taps Smith For Presidency

CHARLES G. SMITH

Charles G. Smith, 145 Montclair Ave. P.E., popular Ohio Society of Professional Engineers Region 8 vice president from the Southern Ohio Chapter, was selected as OSPE president-elect by the board of trustees recently.

Smith will serve as president-elect during 1973 and will assume the office of OSPE president at the convention in 1974.

Smith is administrative assistant with the Ohio Department of Highways, and also is vice president of the contracting firm of C. E. Wardell Inc. He received his BSCE from the University of Illinois in 1932 and has served as OSPE vice president for two years.

Smith has served on numerous chapter and state committees, after having served the Southern Ohio Chapter as president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, director and trustee. He is also well known for his work in the annual summer roundup golf outing and banquet held by the Southern Ohio Chapter.

Smith was the recipient of the OSPE Meritorious Service Award given by the executive committee in 1969. He is a member of the Circleville Lions Club, Masonic Lodge, Pickaway Country Club and various community organizations. He served in the United States Navy, Bureau of Yards and Docks in World War II.

Pompidou Will Visit Russia Next Month

MOSCOW (AP) — President Georges Pompidou of France will visit the Soviet Union next month for summit conferences with Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, in announcing the upcoming visit Tuesday, described it as unofficial. The two leaders will meet Jan. 11-12.

COMMON PLEAS COURT, PROBATE DIVISION

All interested parties are hereby notified that the following Executor has filed his account in the Common Pleas Court, Probate Division, Pickaway County, Ohio:

No. 24758 Moses Block Executor of the estate of Pauline Block, deceased. First and final Account.

And that said accounts will be for hearing and settlement before the Court on Monday, January 8, 1973 at 9 o'clock A.M. Exceptions to said Accounts, if any, must be filed herein on or before January 2, 1973.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Common Pleas Court, Probate Division, Pickaway County, Ohio on December 5, 1972.

Guy G. Cline, Judge Common Pleas Court Probate Division

Dec. 7, 14, 21, 28

The court's 2-1 decision ordered the installation deadline "delayed until a reasonable time after" new testing procedures are devised.

Chrysler Corp., American Motors Corp., Ford Motor Corp., the Jeep Corp., and the Automobile Importers of America had appealed the NHTSA's March, 1971, safety standards ruling.

The court took note of automakers' complaints that present airbag testing procedures lack uniformity.

It said present tests carried out by manufacturers might well result in different findings from similar tests performed by the government.

This is unfair in a situation where manufacturers must comply with a federal standard under pain of "substantial penalties," the court majority ruled.

Although granting the delay, the court challenged auto industry arguments that airbags are far from being perfected. Most major problems in development of the devices have been resolved, the court said.

Industry reaction to the decision was favorable.

Herbert Misch, Ford vice president for environmental and safety engineering, said, "Ford plans to continue development of airbag restraint systems. We still believe that complete and safe passivity has not been achieved with airbag systems, and that supplemental seat belts are required for occupant positioning and protection in crashes other than head-on collisions."

A Chrysler spokesman said "we are pleased" with the ruling, and Gerald Meyers, American Motors group vice president for products, said "we welcome this decision."

"American Motors," Meyers said, "believes a desirable approach to improved passenger safety still lies in the development of a low cost, effective passive restraint system which can be sold to the car buyer on the basis of its merits and its economic acceptability."

Charles G. Smith, 145 Montclair Ave. P.E., popular Ohio Society of Professional Engineers Region 8 vice president from the Southern Ohio Chapter, was selected as OSPE president-elect by the board of trustees recently.

Smith will serve as president-elect during 1973 and will assume the office of OSPE president at the convention in 1974.

Smith is administrative assistant with the Ohio Department of Highways, and also is vice president of the contracting firm of C. E. Wardell Inc. He received his BSCE from the University of Illinois in 1932 and has served as OSPE vice president for two years.

Smith has served on numerous chapter and state committees, after having served the Southern Ohio Chapter as president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, director and trustee. He is also well known for his work in the annual summer roundup golf outing and banquet held by the Southern Ohio Chapter.

Smith was the recipient of the OSPE Meritorious Service Award given by the executive committee in 1969. He is a member of the Circleville Lions Club, Masonic Lodge, Pickaway Country Club and various community organizations. He served in the United States Navy, Bureau of Yards and Docks in World War II.

The court's 2-1 decision ordered the installation deadline "delayed until a reasonable time after" new testing procedures are devised.

Chrysler Corp., American Motors Corp., Ford Motor Corp., the Jeep Corp., and the Automobile Importers of America had appealed the NHTSA's March 1971, safety standards ruling.

The court took note of automakers' complaints that present airbag testing procedures lack uniformity.

It said present tests carried out by manufacturers might well result in different findings from similar tests performed by the government.

This is unfair in a situation where manufacturers must comply with a federal standard under pain of "substantial penalties," the court majority ruled.

Although granting the delay, the court challenged auto industry arguments that airbags are far from being perfected. Most major problems in development of the devices have been resolved, the court said.

Industry reaction to the decision was favorable.

Herbert Misch, Ford vice president for environmental and safety engineering, said, "Ford plans to continue development of airbag restraint systems. We still believe that complete and safe passivity has not been achieved with airbag systems, and that supplemental seat belts are required for occupant positioning and protection in crashes other than head-on collisions."

A Chrysler spokesman said "we are pleased" with the ruling, and Gerald Meyers, American Motors group vice president for products, said "we welcome this decision."

"American Motors," Meyers said, "believes a desirable approach to improved passenger safety still lies in the development of a low cost, effective passive restraint system which can be sold to the car buyer on the basis of its merits and its economic acceptability."

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

CHAPTER ONE A LONG WINTER

In Northern lands near the top of the world Christmas comes in the wintertime.

In Southern lands near the bottom of the world it is different. There Christmas comes in summer.

In June, July and August, Northern children swim and picnic and walk barefoot in the woods. But during these very same months Southern Hemisphere children ride sleds and skate and wear gloves every day. For these children summer doesn't come until December and Christmas itself often comes on the hottest day of the year.

There is, of course, a scientific explanation for this strange state of affairs and you have probably heard this explanation and accepted it as very properly, you should.

But some folk say there is another reason, not at all scientific, why December comes in summer near the South Pole while at the same time coming in the winter at the North Pole. If you can believe these folk it is all because of Santa Claus and Oonik, the Eskimo boy, and the way the two of them long ago tamed the Ice King of the North.

Here is the story they tell:

Once upon a time, in a far away Northern land, there lived a little Eskimo boy named Oonik. He lived with his family in an igloo on the edge of the Arctic Sea.

Nearby there were eight other igloos where other families lived. Together they formed an Eskimo village.

The Eskimos were hunters. In the winter they hunted seal and walrus and polar bear. In the summer, when their snow houses melted and grass covered the land they hunted reindeer and rabbit and birds.

One year it seemed that the winter was colder than anyone could ever remember. The icy winds blew all the time and the snow drifted high over the village. Sometimes, when Oonik and his father returned home from hunting they had trouble finding the door to their own home because it was buried in new-fallen snow.

And sometimes the cold was so intense that all the villagers stayed in their snow houses for weeks at a time.

The worst part of it was that the hunting was poor for even the seal and the polar bear did not wish to come out in such weather. So food ran low in the village and Oonik was often lucky to have even one hunk of frozen seal blubber as his only meal of the day.

One day as the family sat together in the igloo Oonik's father said, "The days are beginning to be longer than the nights and the Spring Moon shines in the sky. That means winter is over and soon the ice will melt, birds will fly and flowers will grow."

"And we will trail reindeer in the hills!" cried Oonik rolling over and throwing his arms around his dog, Keotuk.

"I can hardly wait," said his sister Popik. "Oh, it will be good to live in our summer tents and hunt for bird eggs in the grass!"

"And we will be warm again!" cried their mother.

"Oh, I will be glad when this miserable winter is gone!"

But weeks went by and May came and June and even July passed by and still the icy winds blew and the snow piled higher and even the hunters' sleds froze to the ice and it was a job to move them at all.

Then the Eskimos were truly frightened. They went to the igloo of Miski, the wise man of the village.

"What has happened?" they cried. "Why has summer not come?"

Old Miski sucked in his ancient cheeks and stared at the ground. Then he said, "The Ice King of the North is very angry. To placate him we must have a festival in his honor. Then the icy winds will stop and summer will come to Eskimo land."

VA Expenditure Totals Announced

The Veterans Administration has announced that expenditures for the State of Ohio for Fiscal 1972 amounted to $495,984,944, of which $1,171,489 was for Pickaway County.

Funds were secured mainly through the office of James P. Shea, Pickaway County veterans service officer.

Lucius M. Merritt, director of the VA Regional Office in Cleveland, said that the bulk of the money coming to Pickaway County veterans or their dependents was for Compensation and Pension awards, amounting to $804,446.

In addition, Merritt said, Pickaway County Veterans also received $197,948 in VA Educational benefits and $141,095 in Insurance benefits.

Additional expenditures that went to Pickaway County Veterans through the efforts of the County Veterans Service Office, Merritt said, included direct G.I. Loans in the amount of $275,150.00.

HUD Chief Rose To Top Quickly

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—President Nixon's newly-named secretary of housing and urban development is remembered in his hometown as a man of unusual ability and "a great guy to be with."

A partner in the law firm that James T. Lynn left to go to Washington, D.C., in 1969 described him as "a very able fellow...very companionable and intelligent."

Onetime business associates of Lynn in Cleveland said they were not shocked to learn that the 45-year-old lawyer, a political nonentity four years ago, has risen to the top so quickly.

"A great many of our youngish people go to Washington for a time," said Joseph C. Little of Lynn's former law firm, Jones, Day, Cockley & Reavis. "Most come back."

Lynn, he said, will stay on because "he was recognized as a man of outstanding ability."

A registered Republican, Lynn had not even been active in politics before 1968 when he stopped by the New York headquarters of the newly elected president and asked for a job.

He was appointed general counsel of the U.S. Commerce Department in March of the following year and was named undersecretary of that department since April 27, 1971.

Lynn grew up in suburban Euclid and was valedictorian of both his high school class and at Western Reserve University. He got his law degree at Harvard, graduating there magna cum laude.

He served in the Navy during World War II, returning to Cleveland after his discharge to pursue his law practice.

There was little indication he was interested in serving within the federal government before he took it upon himself to ask for a post. Even Lynn recalled the oddity of it.

But "I thought I had a reasonable chance to serve," he said. "I had a strong interest in government from my law school days. I guess it was just Potomac fever."

He went to Washington, D.C., about a week later to talk to Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, chatted for 90 minutes and found himself with a job, he said.

In Washington Tuesday, Lynn said he thought Nixon had skipped over other possible appointees more familiar with urban problems in order to take advantage of Lynn's managerial experience.

But Lynn said he did have some experience with the urban situation, including work with the Economic Development Administration.

"It engages in work in both rural and urban areas," he said, noting that he had also overseen the Commerce Department's participation in regional economic commissions.

Lynn maintains legal residence in Cleveland Heights but he said that he doesn't have long-range political ambitions in Ohio for the moment. His only future right now, he said, is to serve in the administration "for as long as the President wants me."

Lynn, his wife, the former Joan Miller, and their three children now live in Bethesda, Md.

Lynn is only the fourth Greater Clevelanders chosen to fill a cabinet post. The others were U.S. Appellate Court Judge Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare from 1962 to 1965; the late George M. Humphrey, a secretary of the treasury from 1953 to 1957, and the late Newton D. Baker, secretary of war from 1916 to 1921.

1938 Slaying Brings Trial

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Arrest of Walter W. Hendricks, 51, on a first-degree murder charge was set for Dec. 15 Wednesday after a 12-member jury ruled he was capable of standing trial.

Hendricks has been confined at Lima State Hospital since shortly after the murder of his uncle, Finely T. Fry of Pataskala, on Oct. 14, 1938. Hendricks was 17 at the time.

Last month he was returned to Newark from Lima to determine his ability to stand trial.

The Licking County Common Pleas Court jury returned its decision Wednesday after hearing testimony by Dr. Dwight Palmer, a Columbus psychiatrist, and Dr. T. J. Reshetilo, superintendent of Lima State Hospital.

Both said Hendricks understands the charge against him and is of "sufficient mind" to stand trial.

Visions Of Space Flight Help Boy Overcome Cancer

CAVE CREEK, Ariz. (AP) — For 12-year-old Kevin Steen, a slender, blond-haired boy who doctors say should have died two years ago, the Apollo 17 liftoff was his ticket to a Pacific Ocean trip.

He will be aboard the USS Ticonderoga when crewmen from the American carrier pluck the Apollo 17 astronauts from the Pacific after they splash down to complete their lunar journey.

Kevin sat excitedly in front of the television set Wednesday night and watched the fiery liftoff from Cape Kennedy, Fla. Surrounding him were photos of his Apollo heroes neatly lined on a wall beside scale models of the U.S. spacecrafts.

Aviation Pioneer Succumbs

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Joint services for Ernest C Hall, an internationally-known pioneer in aviation, and his sister, Mrs. Hazel Cox, will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at First Presbyterian Church in Warren.

Hall, 82, died Tuesday night at St. Joseph Hospital, where he had been a patient for one day after suffering a heart attack. Mrs. Cox, 85, with whom he lived, died Monday.

Hall, who operated a flying school here, began flying in 1909, taking some of his early instruction from the Wright Brothers. He had taught flying continuously from 1915 until he was hospitalized.

He trained aviators during World War I at the Curtiss School of Aviation at Newport News, Va.

Hall tried to enlist in the Signal Corps as a flier when the United States entered the war, but was turned down because of poor vision. The Army then hired him as a civilian flight instructor and he helped train aviators who flew in both world wars.

Just prior to World War II he served as Ohio aviation director. He received a citation from the National Aeronautics Association in 1968 for his service as a flight instructor.

OEA Opens Yearly Meet In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The 125-year-old Ohio Education Association (OEA) opened its convention here today and for the first time in 20 years was not seeking tax reform to provide more school money.

President Leonard Arceles said the teachers' group, which represents 83,000 members, was not seeking more money for schools because Ohioans voted to keep the graduated income tax.

Arceles, of Cincinnati, said a statewide bargaining law and abolition of the Ferguson Act, which forbids strikes by public employees would be considered the first day by the 1,200 delegates.

Helen Wise, president-elect of the National Education Association from College Park, Md., was scheduled to address the evening session.

The gathering is being held for the first time in 15 years, outside of Columbus. The OEA convention next year will be held in Akron.

The group's legislative committee will seek approval of appointment of a state board made up of educators to have a voice in certification of teachers; reduce retirement age for teachers with 30 years service to 60 years from 65, and statewide collective bargaining for all teachers.

Mayo Clinic operated on young Steen for the ninth and apparently final time.

Nothing was removed, they said, because cancer had spread into virtually all parts of his abdomen — both kidneys, his back muscles, blood vessels and more. During eight earlier operations, parts of one lung, lymph node and other organs had been removed.

"They told us if they removed the cancer everywhere it was, they would have had to remove just about everything," said Kevin's father, Orion Steen Jr. "They told us he'd be dead within six weeks.

Sounds Of Christmas Will Be Sung Sunday At TVHS

On Sunday afternoon, the 63-voice high school choir at Teays Valley will present its annual Christmas concert.

The afternoon of music will begin at 2 p.m. in the high school auditorium. With the help of the seventh and eighth grade choirs, the high school and junior high ensembles, the girls' chorus and several soloists, the choir will welcome the season with its feelings of Christmas.

The fun part of Christmas will start off the annual program with "It's the Most Wonderful Time of the Year," sung by the choir. Steve Clark and several choral groups will follow and help show the wonder of Christmas with several popular carols.

home and had ourselves all prepared to bury Kevin, but suddenly it dawned on us that he wasn't following the pattern, he wasn't dying."

Today, the boy is in what physicians call a "state of remission."

"We realize he could die within three months if the cancer became active again," his father said. "But there's a theory that when a person has a will strong enough, he can overcome the chemistry of his body, that it can be a deterrent to death."

For Kevin, the major deterrent stems from the Apollo projects, according to his father.

"I want to become an astronaut," said Kevin. "That's all I ever think about. That's all I ever dream about."

singing "Jolly Old St. Nicholas." Debbie Mitcham and Kathy Null will join in "Mr. Santa" and Jim Morehart and Liz Good will present the child's view of Christmas in two songs.

The boys' ensemble takes the Scrooge attitude; then the choir stresses the true meaning of Christmas.

The younger musical groups will tell the Christmas Story and commemorate the birth of Christ with their selected carols of the holiday. The program will close on a religious tempo with "O Holy Night" by the choir with Clyde Gwin, Darlene Neff and Don Burgoon in solo parts.

The program is directed by Miss Darlene Freeman.

Sowle Cuts OU Budget; Layoffs Set

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio University President Claude Sowle has announced a major administrative reorganization, which may include layoffs, possibly including layoffs, which he said is needed to keep the university within its 1973-74 budget.

This marks the third budget cut announced by the school since September. Officials blamed rising costs and revenue losses.

The cuts announced are to become effective July 1 of next year. At least two changes in senior-level personnel are to be made the first of the year, however.

The jobs to be eliminated Jan. 1 are those of the vice president for educational services and the assistant to the president for planning, budgeting and information systems. The duties of those offices will be handled through other departments.

The university's 1973 budget totals $43 million.

To get expenditures down to that figure, Sowle proposed spending reductions in all university departments to shave $2.4 million from what was left after the cuts were announced in September and October.

An unanticipated 1,700-student enrollment drop in September caused both a loss of student fees and state subsidies, officials said. In October Sowle announced a $1.5 million budget cut to help make up the loss of income.

Cincy-Based Lumberman Rips Nader Timber Report

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati-based lumberman charges that consumer advocate Ralph Nader "doesn't know what he's talking about" in Nader's report accusing the U.S. National Forest Service of turning public lands into "timber factories."

The 413-page report was produced by Nader's Center for Study of Responsive Law.

"If lawyers will stop practicing forestry," said Howard W. Bennett, executive vice president of the Appalachian Hardwood Manufacturers Inc., "I promise not to practice law."

Bennett, whose group represents 90 manufacturers, said that through the Forest Service's efforts, there is actually more timber on public lands now than there was in 1950, despite increased demand.

He said the increase could be attributed to better conservation improved fire fighting methods, plus more intelligent cutting.

"In 1950," said Bennett, "there were about 45 billion board feet of lumber in our Appalachian Forests. Today there are about 75 billion."

There are about 187 million acres of land in national forests, but timber is cut only on 97 million, Bennett said, leaving nearly one-half of the land untouched.

In addition, he said, the cutting is supervised "rigidly" by the Forest Service.

"The timber industry would be stupid to overcut, even if we could," Bennett said, "we could be cutting our throats."

Report On Kiwanis Newspaper Sale

David Gillespie, President of the Circleville Kiwanis Club, has expressed his appreciation to the people of Circleville and the surrounding area, for their excellent support of the recent Kiwanis Charity Newsie.

According to Gillespie, this year's Newsie sale was the best ever, and because of the support of the people in the community, Kiwanis will be able to continue with their many projects in the line of community and civic programs.

"If, perchance" the men and women who sold the Charity Newsie on Monday, December 4, were unable to contact each house" Gillespie said, "we will be most happy to take a Newsie to them."

"All they need do" the Kiwanis President said, "is call the Chairman of our Newsie, Jim Shea, at 474-3650 or 474-6242, and a paper will be delivered to them, and their contribution accepted."

Gillespie also pointed out that a story prepared by him for page 3 and a story prepared by past president Doyle Painter for page 5 were reversed in the printing shop.

Circleville Hosts Hillsboro In Key SCOL Confrontation

Coach John Lawhorn will send his Circleville basketball team after its fourth straight win Friday night when the Tigers host Hillsboro in a South Central Ohio League tilt.

The Red and Black downed Wilmington, 61-47, in the league opener and will be out to make the Indians the second victim in the race for the SCOL crown.

In their other two outings, the Tigers have downed Westfall and Hamilton Twp. to remain unbeaten in season play.

For the first time in several years, the Tigers have depth on the squad and coach Lawhorn can go to his bench without slowing down the pace. This should become a key factor for the Tigers as the season rolls along.

With Dave Truex, Dan Graham and Greg Hoskins setting the scoring pace the Tigers have been averaging 75 points a game with a fine 46.8 shooting percentage from the floor.

But it has been a defense that is tighter than a size 40 pair of pants on a 44 waist that has dominated the game.

The sticky defenders, who harass the opponents and cause costly turnovers, have been yielding a mere 43.3 average a game in the opposition's scorebook.

In the battle of the boards the Red and Black has come up with 128 rebounds in three games while the opposition has pulled down 79 misses from the boards.

The Tigers have committed 39 turnovers for the year while their forcing defense has caused 76 turnovers by the opponents.

"We are well pleased with the way our guard play has developed and with the inside play up front," Lawhorn stated.

"Kris Kline is coming on and with the other members of the bench provides us with a solid club that is exciting to watch," Lawhorn commented.

Hillsboro dropped its league opener to Miami Trace, 81-57, and will be seeking the winning path Friday night against the Tigers.

With three of the best offensive players in the league in guards, Mike Vance, a pure shooter with great range, and Kevin Bailey, a good driver and shooter, and Don Jewett, averaging 23 points a game and leading the team in rebounds, the Indians have the ability to take anyone to camp on any given night.

Hillsboro also has good bench strength in guard Ernie Jewett, forward Chris Fehring and center Mark Coffman.

The probable starting lineup for Hillsboro will be: Vance, 5-foot-10, and Bailey, 5-foot-8, at the guards, Don Jewett, 6-foot-3, at center with Bill Housh, 6-foot-1, and Lawrence Turner,

6-foot-2, at the forward posts.

Circleville will go with: Truex, 6-foot, and Greg Hoskins, 6-foot-1, at the forwards, Graham, 6-foot-2, at center,

Doug Radabaugh, 5-foot-9, at one guard and either Robin Martin, 5-foot-10, or Glen Gillespie, 5-foot-10, holding down the other guard slot.

Coach Dennis Stewart will be sending his fine undefeated reserve squad against the Indians in the first game of the evening.

Fighting Irish Win Clash With Valparaiso, 82-72

Notre Dame's once feared Fighting Irish have snapped an eight-game losing streak in college basketball and hope their spell of hard times in the sport has ended.

Unranked in the Associated Press Top Twenty, the Irish won their first game of the new season by turning back Valparaiso Wednesday night 82-72. They had lost their last six games last season and their first two of the current campaign.

Perhaps looking ahead to a Dec. 23 meeting with UCLA's mighty national champions Irish Coach "Digger" Phelps used numerous players against the Valpos at South Bend. "I wanted to give our kids confidence and I wanted to see whether they could come off the bench and play," Phelps said. "We're satisfied."

Credit Fouls With Toledo Cage Victory

Toledo basketball Coach Bob Nichols said second-half free throw shooting made the difference in the Rockets' 77-68 come-from-behind victory over Akron Wednesday night.

Akron mentor Wyatt Webb, infuriated over the officiating, contended Toledo shouldn't have had so many shots.

The Zips had built up as much as a 16-point advantage twice in the first half and were ahead 38-29 at intermission.

Toledo was only 1-for-3 from the charity stripe in the first period, but hit 24 of 28 in the second half. Akron was 4-of-9 for the entire game.

"I don't say we didn't foul," said an angry Webb, who waited 20 minutes before meeting with reporters. He questioned the nine fouls called against Toledo. "We should get that many by accident."

"We were trying to get fouled and couldn't," he said. "Is Toledo that super they don't foul?"

"We out-field goaled them, outrebounced them and the turnovers were the same, but we got beat," he declared.

John Shumate, with 24 points, and Gary Brokaw, with 23, led the Irish. John Wolfenburgh of the Crusaders took high game honors with 26.

Pennsylvania, Southwestern Louisiana and Oral Roberts were the only teams in the AP rankings to see action. The ninth-ranked Quakers crushed The Citadel 67-34, the Ragin' Cajuns, No. 10, routed Pan American 111-77 and No. 12 Oral Roberts whipped Idaho State 95-82.

Dwight Lamar tossed in 30 points for the Cajuns, but Reese Stovall of Pan American led all scorers with 36. Richard Fuqua paced Oral Roberts with 31.

Penn overcame a Citadel stall in winning the second game of a tripleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia. In the opener LaSalle edged Biscayne 69-67. Oregon State defeated Temple 56-50 in the concluding game.

All-Ohio Class A Grid Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two versatile performers spearhead The Associated Press 1972 Class A all-state high school football team.

Mark Mullins of New London, the small school back of the year, broke loose for an 11.6-yard rushing average while delivering an outstanding performance as a defensive cornerback.

Terry King of Marion Pleasant, the Class A Ohio lineman of the year, was just as sterling on offense as he was defensively in helping the Spartans extend their winning streak to 38 games.

Mullins, a 165-pound senior, ran up 1,313 yards on the ground, even though he missed two games with a shoulder injury. He scored 102 points and is rated a top blocker.

Mullins edged Jerry Beiter of Newcomerstown, Ed Thompson of New Boston and Marion Pleasant quarterback Scott Ballinger as the top back.

King, a 6-5, 190-pound senior and twotime all-stater, caught 26 passes for 352 yards and 36 points while blocking a field goal and two punt attempts and intercepting two passes on defense.

He has started every game of Pleasant's victory streak, the longest in Ohio.

King's principal competition for No. 1 lineman honors came from Gus Mercera of Lorain Clearview, Steve Liddy of Sidney Lehman, Kelly Bennett of Frankfort Adena and Burt Ridgeway of Newcomerstown.

Ballinger was the lone junior on the otherwise all-senior 22-man first unit.

His running mates in the first team backfield were Otis Jenkins of Lorain Clearview, Mullins and Beiter.

Indiana Pacers Rip

Conquistadors

"Running, that's our ballgame," says Coach Bob Leonard of the Indiana Pacers.

The defending American Basketball Association champs ran away from the expansion San Diego Conquistadors 124-112 Wednesday night and they're starting to run away with the ABA's Western Division, opening a 3½-game lead over Denver and Utah.

Elsewhere, Dallas defeated Denver 110-104, Utah turned back Carolina 119-108, Kentucky trounced Virginia 119-105 and New York outlasted Memphis 101-95.

Johnny Bench Awaits Decision

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Doctors say they'll know by Friday whether Johnny Bench, two-time National League most valuable player, will undergo surgery for removal of a lesion in his chest.

Bench, who turned 25 today, disclosed Tuesday that routine X-rays taken of the Cincinnati Reds in September had indicated the presence of a spot on his right lung.

Bench finished the season, including the National League baseball playoffs and World Series, and doctors made continuing checks of the spot. He said the lesion caused no discomfort.

Tests were made at General Hospital here Wednesday which Bench's physician, Dr. Luis Gonzalez, said could determine whether the Cincinnati catcher would undergo surgery next Monday.

Gonzalez said he and the Reds' physician, Dr. George Ballou, would study the test results Friday and decide on the surgery.

Bench says he'll be ready for spring training in March, even if surgery is necessary.

His mother, Katie, told The Associated Press Wednesday the tests had indicated the lesion might be between the lungs, rather than in one of them. "That would be better," she said.

Mrs. Bench said the motel she and her husband, Ted, operate here was flooded with calls Wednesday.

"They were from all over ... so many people calling to see about him," she said. Mrs. Bench said there also had been three crank calls, but added, "you just have to consider the source of those."

Ted Bench told reporters he was with his son during Wednesday's tests, and "I wish I could take his place. That's always a father's thought."

Dayton Gems Lose

To Port Huron, 5-3

DATYON, Ohio (AP)—Port Huron scored first and last Wednesday night in defeating the Dayton Gems 5-3 in the International Hockey League.

The Gems were behind 4-1 but came back with two goals. However, Port Huron added another goal for the final score.

DEALERSHIP OPPORTUNITY

PICKAWAY COUNTY

The "American Dream" of owning your own business with low cash requirements can be a reality for a progressive individual in the Pickaway County area. We're looking for the person who can SELL a top line of lawn and garden tractors and power equipment to the homeowner. If you can SELL — we'll help you get started in your own business right in your own home town.

Since the power equipment business is essentially a "small engine" business, and servicing what you sell is a vital part of that business, it is helpful if you have some mechanical aptitude. You may be presently engaged in another line of work, but have a "knack" or interest in mechanics and small engines. This would be an asset — but the overriding qualities that will assure success in this field are:

1. Your ability to SELL big ticket merchandise.
2. Your ability to MANAGE your own business.

If you think you possess these qualities, we're ready to assist you in many ways to own your own business and help assure its success.

We'll assist in experienced management counseling, site acquisition, service and sales training, inventory financing, advertising, and supply you with the No. 1 Lawn & Garden tractor line in the industry. Interested?? Write briefly outlining your background and include phone number to —

Circleville Hosts Hillsboro In Key SCOL Confrontation

Coach John Lawhorn will send his Circleville basketball team after its fourth straight win Friday night when the Tigers host Hillsboro in a South Central Ohio League tilt.

The Red and Black downed Wilmington, 61-47, in the league opener and will be out to make the Indians the second victim in the race for the SCOL crown.

In their other two outings, the Tigers have downed Westfall and Hamilton Twp. to remain unbeaten in season play.

For the first time in several years, the Tigers have depth on the squad and coach Lawhorn can go to his bench without slowing down the pace. This should become a key factor for the Tigers as the season rolls along.

With Dave Truex, Dan Graham and Greg Hoskins setting the scoring pace the Tigers have been averaging 75 points a game with a fine 46.8 shooting percentage from the floor.

But it has been a defense that is tighter than a size 40 pair of pants on a 44 waist that has dominated the game.

The sticky defenders, who harass the opponents and cause costly turnovers, have been yielding a mere 43.3 average a game in the opposition's scorebook.

In the battle of the boards the Red and Black has come up with 128 rebounds in three games while the opposition has pulled down 79 misses from the boards.

The Tigers have committed 39 turnovers for the year while their forcing defense has caused 76 turnovers by the opponents.

"We are well pleased with the way our guard play has developed and with the inside play up front," Lawhorn stated.

"Kris Kline is coming on and with the other members of the bench provides us with a solid club that is exciting to watch," Lawhorn commented.

Hillsboro dropped its league opener to Miami Trace, 81-57, and will be seeking the winning path Friday night against the Tigers.

With three of the best offensive players in the league in guards, Mike Vance, a pure shooter with great range, and Kevin Bailey, a good driver and shooter, and Don Jewett, averaging 23 points a game and leading the team in rebounds, the Indians have the ability to take anyone to camp on any given night.

Hillsboro also has good bench strength in guard Ernie Jewett, forward Chris Fehring and center Mark Coffman.

The probable starting lineup for Hillsboro will be: Vance, 5-foot-10, and Bailey, 5-foot-8, at the guards, Don Jewett, 6-foot-3, at center with Bill Housh, 6-foot-1, and Lawrence Turner,

6-foot-2, at the forward posts.

Circleville will go with: Truex, 6-foot, and Greg Hoskins, 6-foot-1, at the forwards, Graham, 6-foot-2, at center,

Doug Radabaugh, 5-foot-9, at one guard and either Robin Martin, 5-foot-10, or Glen Gillespie, 5-foot-10, holding down the other guard slot.

Coach Dennis Stewart will be sending his fine undefeated reserve squad against the Indians in the first game of the evening.

Indiana Pacers Rip

Conquistadors

"Running, that's our ballgame," says Coach Bob Leonard of the Indiana Pacers.

The defending American Basketball Association champs ran away from the expansion San Diego Conquistadors 124-112 Wednesday night and they're starting to run away with the ABA's Western Division, opening a 3½-game lead over Denver and Utah.

Elsewhere, Dallas defeated Denver 110-104, Utah turned back Carolina 119-108, Kentucky trounced Virginia 119-105 and New York outlasted Memphis 101-95.

Johnny Bench Awaits Decision

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Doctors say they'll know by Friday whether Johnny Bench, two-time National League most valuable player, will undergo surgery for removal of a lesion in his chest.

Bench, who turned 25 today, disclosed Tuesday that routine X-rays taken of the Cincinnati Reds in September had indicated the presence of a spot on his right lung.

Bench finished the season, including the National League baseball playoffs and World Series, and doctors made continuing checks of the spot. He said the lesion caused no discomfort.

Tests were made at General Hospital here Wednesday which Bench's physician, Dr. Luis Gonzalez, said could determine whether the Cincinnati catcher would undergo surgery next Monday.

Gonzalez said he and the Reds' physician, Dr. George Ballou, would study the test results Friday and decide on the surgery.

Bench says he'll be ready for spring training in March, even if surgery is necessary.

His mother, Katie, told The Associated Press Wednesday the tests had indicated the lesion might be between the lungs, rather than in one of them. "That would be better," she said.

Mrs. Bench said the motel she and her husband, Ted, operate here was flooded with calls Wednesday.

"They were from all over ... so many people calling to see about him," she said. Mrs. Bench said there also had been three crank calls, but added, "you just have to consider the source of those."

Ted Bench told reporters he was with his son during Wednesday's tests, and "I wish I could take his place. That's always a father's thought."

Dayton Gems Lose

To Port Huron, 5-3

DATYON, Ohio (AP)—Port Huron scored first and last Wednesday night in defeating the Dayton Gems 5-3 in the International Hockey League.

The Gems were behind 4-1 but came back with two goals. However, Port Huron added another goal for the final score.

DEALERSHIP OPPORTUNITY

PICKAWAY COUNTY

The "American Dream" of owning your own business with low cash requirements can be a reality for a progressive individual in the Pickaway County area. We're looking for the person who can SELL a top line of lawn and garden tractors and power equipment to the homeowner. If you can SELL — we'll help you get started in your own business right in your own home town.

Since the power equipment business is essentially a "small engine" business, and servicing what you sell is a vital part of that business, it is helpful if you have some mechanical aptitude. You may be presently engaged in another line of work, but have a "knack" or interest in mechanics and small engines. This would be an asset — but the overriding qualities that will assure success in this field are:

1. Your ability to SELL big ticket merchandise.
2. Your ability to MANAGE your own business.

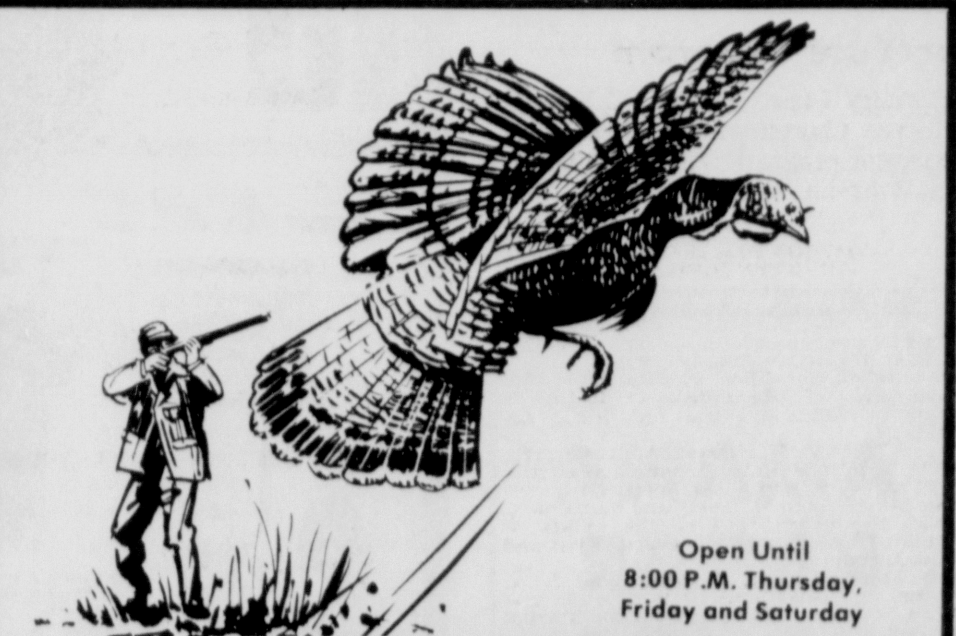

If you think you possess these qualities, we're ready to assist you in many ways to own your own business and help assure its success.

We'll assist in experienced management counseling, site acquisition, service and sales training, inventory financing, advertising, and supply you with the No. 1 Lawn & Garden tractor line in the industry. Interested?? Write briefly outlining your background and include phone number to —

NEW YORK (AP) — Two players from No. 1-ranked Southern California and three from Nebraska's deposed national champions, including Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers, were named today to The Associated Press All-America football team for 1972.

Four members from the 1971 All-America team made it for the second year in a row, including Oklahoma's super runner Greg Pruitt. He was joined in the 1972 backfield by quarterback John Hufnagel of Penn State and running backs Otis Armstrong of Purdue and Woodrow Green of Arizona State.

The other repeaters are middle guard Rich Glover of Nebraska, winner of the Outland Trophy as the nation's top interior lineman, offensive tackle Jerry Sisemore of Texas and center Tom Brahaney of Oklahoma.

The third Nebraska representative is defensive end Willie Harper while top-ranked Southern Cal is represented by tight end Charles Young and sophomore linebacker Richard Wood.

Rodgers, Harper, guard John Hannah of Alabama and defensive back Robert Popelka of Southern Methodist all moved up from the second team of a year ago while Brad Van Pelt, Michigan State's towering 6-foot-5 safety, climbed from the 1971 third team.

Rounding out the elite 22-man All-America squad for 1972 are tackle John Hicks of Ohio State, guard Ron Rusnak of North Carolina, defensive end Roger Goree of Baylor, defensive tackles Greg Marx of Notre Dame and Derland Moore of Oklahoma, linebackers Randy Gradishar of Ohio State and John Skorupan of Penn State and defensive back Calvin Jones of Washington.

Wood, who calls defensive signals for Southern Cal's unbeaten Trojans, is the only sophomore on the All-America team while Green, Hicks and Gradishar are juniors.

Rodgers wound up regular season play with four National Collegiate Athletic Association records, seven Big Eight Conference marks and 19 Nebraska records. He has scored 46 touchdowns, 276 points, caught 150 passes for 2,708 yards and 26 touchdowns and has returned punts for 1,654 yards. In all-purpose running, he has an NCAA record 5,586 yards.

Hufnagel has directed Penn State to 26 victories in 28 games since becoming the starting quarterback midway in the 1970 season. He holds nine Penn State records, including game, season and career marks for passing and total offense yardage.

Oklahoma's opponents overloaded their defenses to the outside to take away Pruitt's explosive sweeps and he didn't approach his 1,665 yards of last season. But Coach Chuck Fairbanks said he still "had a heckuva year for us."

Although he missed one Arizona State game with a knee injury, Green still galloped for 1,363 yards and 15 touchdowns. He had the professional scouts drooling even last year.

Purdue's Armstrong is likely to be a first-round pick when the National Football League does its drafting early next year. He was the only player to be named AP Back of the Week twice this season and he did it by gaining a school record 233 yards against Northwestern.

Tight end Young is outstanding whether he's catching the football or blocking. "He has outstanding speed and can catch the ball," says Southern Cal Coach John McKay. "He can go deep as well as short, almost like a split receiver."

McKay also says that Southern Cal's defense deserves three-fourths of the credit for the Trojans' No. 1 ranking and Wood is the leader. "He's as fine a defensive football player as I've ever seen at this stage of development," says McKay.

Brahaney, Hannah, Sisemore and Hicks were largely responsible with their blocking for their teams' high finish in the national rushing statistics. Oklahoma was tops, while Alabama, Texas and Ohio State all wound up among the top 11. Rusnak is rated one of the finest blockers in North Carolina history.

Even though opponents hesitate to try and skirt Harper's end, he still is the key man on Nebraska's pass rush and containing the Wishbone sweep. He's big, tough and mobile with 4.6 speed over 40 yards. The other end, Baylor's Goree, was the Southwest Conference's Defensive Sophomore of the Year in 1970 and Defensive Player of the Year last season. Against Arkansas, he made 16 tackles and blocked two punts, a performance which forced the Razorbacks into punting on third down just in case he did it again.

Marx could have joined the pro ranks a year ago, but he had a year of eligibility left because he broke his arm in his sophomore year and decided to come back. Needless to say, Notre Dame is glad he did.

Oklahoma's Moore reached his peak in the Sooners' 27-0 rout of Texas. He made 10 tackles, blocked a quick kick which Oklahoma recovered for a touchdown, recovered a batted pitch-out in the end zone for another touchdown and pressured the Texas quarterback into an interception.

Like Wood, Gradishar and Skorupan earned AP Lineman of the Week honors during the season. George Hill, Ohio State's defense coordinator, says Gradishar "has great speed and ability to get outside and he's a great pass defender. We count on him each week to make the big plays. He's just a great football player; what else can you say?"

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno says Skorupan is "one of the finest linebackers we have had. He compares very favorably with the outstanding linebackers we have had in recent years."

Jones, smallest player on the All-America team at 5-9 and 170, had overcome his lack of size to win Pacific-8 honors three years in a row. Southern Methodist's Popelka has 9.7 speed for the 100 and impressed one pro scout to say: "He was the best defensive back I saw all season. He's got real good speed, but the thing that impresses me is that he always seems to be in the right place. He just has a nose for the football."

Van Pelt is a three-sport star at Michigan State—football, basketball and baseball—who says he doesn't feel comfortable "unless I'm playing some sport."

Meyers To Spark Bengals Air Attack

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Lanky Chip Meyers has this dream in which he streaks downfield from his wide receiver position, then turns and dances to the sideline.

A football, in this dream, whips into his arms as he stretches full-length to keep his feet in-bounds, a necessity under National Football League rules. "That's the most beautiful play in football," said the Cincinnati Bengals receiver.

That is, unless there's an opposing head coach standing on the sideline, directly in the receiver's path.

"Couple weeks ago," said Meyers, "I caught a down-and-out and ran right over the coach... don't remember who it was."

"As I went back on the field, I didn't say anything to him," Meyers laughed. "I figured I might need a job sometime."

Meyers, a 6-foot-5, 210-pounder, has 45 catches this season, and will be a key figure when the Bengals host Cleveland Saturday in an American Conference battle the Bengals simply must win.

At stake is the AFC's wildcard slot in post-season playoffs, a slot the Bengals can claim only if they win their remaining two games while the Browns lose two and the New York Jets either lose or are tied in one of their last two games.

The Bengals are well aware the Browns can take the wildcard spot with one victory in their final two games.

Myers, fully recovered from a pair of broken arms he suffered in a pre-season game last season, is having by far his best campaign.

AUCTION HOUSE

FRI. DEC. 8, 7 P.M.

6 wicker bar stools, 6 oak chairs, oak ice box, dressers, and more antique, modern furniture and misc.

EACH YEAR during the holiday season thousands of people tour our old store recalling the nostalgia and warmth of Christmases years ago.
Here you may browse through layers of artificial snow and two floors of thousands of old time, made-with-care and pride, country store products. Pottery, earthenware, jewelry, china, sweet tooth candies and lollypops. "Rib-tickling" jokes, hand-dipped candies, rings and things, rich fragrant soaps, stocking
"stuffers," raffers of Early American woodenware and hand forged iron accessories, very new and very old, beautiful furniture, famous wood and brass cleaners or finishes, authentic furniture hardware, 1973 calendar towels in scenes of Currier and Ives, beautiful old-fashioned children's wheeled toys and bisque dolls, hand-crafted colonial pattern glassware and lamps, plus one of the largest selections to be found of restoration glass lamp shades, chimneys, electric, oil and any replacement parts. (Bring your lamps along for fitting... a perfect gift idea, too.)
If you have never been here before, we suggest you plan your visit early before the Christmas rush begins.
Weekdays are best. Plan on two hours — you can rest your weary feet on our pat belly stove. We hope you and your family find our old store that pleasant, comfortable friendly experience of a by-gone day. The season's best to you and yours from all of the storekeepers here at Peddlers — The General Store. At the crossroads of Maysville, Ohio, 117 Main Street N.
(look for our rain barrel). Holiday hours: 9:00 to 9:00 weekdays, Sundays 12:30 to 9:00. Easy Old-Time no interest payment plans. We also wholesale to other peddlers, dealers and flea marketeers who have a vendors license. Discounts to employers or to organizations buying groups of merchandise. See you soon? It's easy to get here on State Route 33, 25 miles NW of Columbus. Two fine restaurants within a block of store. Write for our new 1973 Spring catalog.

Old Arab Tunes Are Sought Out

BEIRUT (AP) — Mounir Bachir is a 42-year-old musical detective whose speciality is investigating melodic mysteries thousands of years old.

He tours towns and villages in the Arabian Peninsula on the lookout for long-neglected Arab tunes.

Bachir eavesdrops on singing peasants, desert nomads, fortune tellers, sidewalk peddlers and religious chanters for traces of the musical past.

Bachir, who has a Ph.D. degree in folklore music from the University of Budapest, hopes to contribute to a "revival" of Arab music, mainly by "rediscovering" ancient melodies.

"Arabian Nights tales are replete with stories of singers and musicians who could cause princes and caliphs to laugh or weep by means of well studied melodies. This music is lost, and it is our duty today to search for it," he says.

Bachir charges that modern Arab melodies can hardly be regarded as authentic music. He sadly accuses Arab composers, the Egyptians in particular, of "distorting the Arab taste with a mishmash of so-called music."

He insists that 90 per cent of present-day music is "copied" — to use a polite term — from European music. And the remaining 10 per cent is nothing but a "crazy mixture" of tunes adapted to words and termed as Arab songs.

A millennium of decline has "corroded features of ancient, glamorous, spiritual Arab music" until it survives only in hidden form, he says.

Arab music is distorted today but barely survives in the day-by-day practices and popular ballads of Arabs who live just the way their ancestors lived thousands of years ago. Bachir is determined to uncover, polish and revive that music, he says.

He often picks up old tunes whose origin has been lost through the ages. He verifies them by playing them on his "oud" — the Arab guitar — to natives and watching their reaction. In many cases, he says, desert Arabs have corrected melodies or responded with different variations.

His digging reveals that the oldest melodies were sung by slow moving camel drivers in Yemen and the Persian Gulf desert areas. They were un-rhythmical, drawing and in keeping with the quarter-tone Arab octave, Bachir says.

The melodies later developed into faster and rhythmical tempos adapted to words sung by Arabs at weddings.

Bachir suggests that Arab governments launch programs to look for "genuine Arab melodies." He calls for organizing "music hunting caravans, complete with tape recorders and trained musical detectives to tour ancient villages and oases to listen to popular melodies and record them.

Arab universities and specialized institutes should then verify ancient ballads and tunes, polish them and wrap them in proper Western forms.

Bar Owners Plan To Fight Nudity Ruling

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's topless-bottomless entertainment industry is girding for a battle over an antinudity ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court's decision gives state liquor authorities the power to begin enforcing regulations against topless waitresses and topless-bottomless entertainers.

Peter Sexton, deputy director of the California Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, said topless-only dancers still are allowed if the entertainer stays at least six feet away from the nearest customer on a stage at least 18 inches high. Topless waitresses, said Sexton, are out.

"Nude entertainment per se is on its way out," Sexton added.

The 6-3 Supreme Court ruling said that states can shut down bars that feature nude dancers and other "bacchanalian revelries on grounds that First Amendment freedom does not go beyond books and movies to 'gross sexuality' in public."

Edward J. Kirby, director of the state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, said the ruling will affect all other states, too. It was issued Tuesday in a California case.

Nudie-bar owner Tammy Heath said there is going to be a struggle if Kirby's department starts moving to revoke liquor licenses on the basis of the type of entertainment offered.

"They've got one hell of a fight on their hands," she said.

"It's ludicrous to think the Supreme Court or the supreme anything is going to regulate people's morals," said Miss Heath, who owns the "Kat Patch" and "Sand Box" nude bars between San Francisco and Sacramento.

Family Doctors Regain Popularity

Doctors of tomorrow may be rated by their bedside manner, not the number of pills they dispense.

Medical schools are trying "to revive the family doctor" observed Dr. Richard I. Feinbloom, director of the Family Medicine Program at Harvard Medical School and Medical Director of the Family Health Program at the Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston. His own program at Harvard is working in that direction, he explains.

Feinbloom was discussing a new book, "Pregnancy, Birth and the Newborn Baby" in which he and other doctors had contributed their expertise for the children's medical center as part of its continuing education program. The book also offers advice on how to choose a doctor for your baby.

New doctors may also relate to personal problems and know more about nutrition which has been bypassed more or less in medical schools, he says.

Today's medical students "want everything out in the open" and he finds teaching them "keeps you on your toes." He is often quite tired at the end of the day "coping with all the new awareness." But he is highly in favor of it.

"Medical opinion is swinging toward a minimization of medication and anaesthesia in pregnancy and childbirth which is beginning to be treated as the natural thing it is. As doctors apply what has been learned about stresses in pregnancy to tensions of daily living, more people will look for causes of problems and not cover them up with drugs," he says.

There are legitimate uses for drugs — for example, tranquilizers for mental patients — but the average person is inundated with advertisements suggesting instant cures for every ill, he says.

Drugs may mask the ills of society as well as the personal problems of patients. Forced retirement, boredom and family rejection of the elderly are human stresses that require responsible solutions rather than the administration of drugs, he comments.

Physicians must take the lead in educating the public to resist the prescription pad, he feels, adding that steps in that direction already have been taken by several medical societies in declaring moratoriums on amphetamines.

The issue is not that you don't take medication or anaesthesia, he emphasizes, but it should be used more selectively. Medication and anaesthesia may be required in pregnancy because something might go wrong, facts discussed in the hospital's book in chapters on diseases and conditions that complicate pregnancy.

Though those chapters might have a startling impact on the average mother-to-be, they are justified because it is better "to know the truth than to listen to old wives' tales," he says.

In writing the complete guide for parents and parents-to-be, the doctors felt it was important to cover anything people might worry about, "and we didn't think that everybody would read everything in the book," Feinbloom observes.

The book offers advice on drugs in pregnancy, with the observation that "too many pregnant women take drugs for minor aches and pains." Some drugs have been known to result in abnormalities in Feinbloom has been a physician 12 years and his career has broadened to include teaching, writing, researching and administrative work. Other contributors to "Pregnancy, Birth and the Newborn Baby" include experts in obstetrics, pediatrics, psychiatry, psychology and social work. In one chapter anthropologist Margaret Meade discusses childbirth in a changing world.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early part of day is excellent for increased energy, charm and the ability to get what you want with ease, but the latter part of day and evening find a considerable amount of resentment present with the urge to break up existing conditions unwisely that have been found workable

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Daytime is fine for conferring with higher-ups and making headway in your special field of endeavor, but keep pretty much to yourself in p.m. Make your plans early and then carry through diligently. Grow

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have excellent ideas for advancement early and should put the most practical in operation quickly; other ideas should await the morning. Take time for research work needed. Rest tonight

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you attend to obligations quietly during the day, you find they are handled quickly and well. Don't jeopardize harmony with mate in p.m. by some careless remark. Show you are stable, dependable

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) During day you are able to reach a better understanding with a fascinating new associate. Do not carry discussions over into the evening, when the aspects are not good for advancement. Civic duty also should be handled well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get your tasks done well and completed early if you really apply yourself during the day; then you have time left for improving health. Do nothing that can irk fellow workers. Don't overdo about anything

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This can be a fine day for you if you contact right people and work along proper lines with them. Get your particular skills functioning properly. Solitude is best in p.m. when you can do some interesting or important studying.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Act quickly on whatever will make conditions at home much better in a.m., but make sure you do not start an argument there in p.m. Get the gadgets that will make your home more smooth running. Take the exercise you need in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into the work that will make your life more affluent and pleasant in the future, then enjoy some hobby you like in p.m. Correspondence should be handled early and well. Don't take risks of any kind today or tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talk over with that expert you know just how to improve your financial position and make sure that you do not overspend, overinvest later. Improve budget and any property you may own. Avoid one who gets on your nerves.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) During the day you get excellent ideas for gaining your finest personal aims, so follow through on them, but tonight take it easy. Group meetings are good until 5 p.m. Accomplish much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Meet with experts to plan to have more success in the future and forget all that gadding about socially for now. Evening is not good for coming to definite decisions. Lend a helping hand to one who needs it badly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can reach a time understanding with others during day, but reserve the evening for your own kind of quiet amusement. Quietly state to others your personal aims now. Gain the cooperation of others easily.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who is a born organizer and therefore the education should be slanted along such lines since the greatest success can come from such specialized avenue of expression. Your youngster will always want to know the real motive and plans behind any work before putting all of his or her effort into it. The success can be as big as the expectations are. Give good spiritual training early, though.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Paar held a press conference the other day at the 21 Club. There was a bar, and a lot of people who write about television showed up.

The proceedings had an old-fashioned flavor, partly because you don't see as many press conferences for television stars as you used to. Somebody apparently outlawed them on grounds nothing sensible ever occurs.

But there was Paar, a rebel to the last, braving the misquote and talking about his return to nighttime television on a one-week-a-month basis next year on the ABC television network.

"If I ramble, just bring me back and don't write it all down because you won't have enough pads," he advised the scribes.

Paar, who left NBC's "Tonight" show in 1962 after five lively years, starts doing "Jack Paar Tonight" for ABC next Jan. 8 at 11:30 p.m.

Dick Cavett, who occupied that time slot on a weekly basis until laid low by ratings, now will do his show just one week each month. Assorted comedy, dramatic and variety shows will fill the intervals between the Paar and Cavett weeks.

Paar emphasized that he agreed to do his shows for ABC only on the provision that the network retain Cavett's services.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early part of day is excellent for increased energy, charm and the ability to get what you want with ease, but the latter part of day and evening find a considerable amount of resentment present with the urge to break up existing conditions unwisely that have been found workable

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Daytime is fine for conferring with higher-ups and making headway in your special field of endeavor, but keep pretty much to yourself in p.m. Make your plans early and then carry through diligently. Grow

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have excellent ideas for advancement early and should put the most practical in operation quickly; other ideas should await the morning. Take time for research work needed. Rest tonight

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you attend to obligations quietly during the day, you find they are handled quickly and well. Don't jeopardize harmony with mate in p.m. by some careless remark. Show you are stable, dependable

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) During day you are able to reach a better understanding with a fascinating new associate. Do not carry discussions over into the evening, when the aspects are not good for advancement. Civic duty also should be handled well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get your tasks done well and completed early if you really apply yourself during the day; then you have time left for improving health. Do nothing that can irk fellow workers. Don't overdo about anything

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This can be a fine day for you if you contact right people and work along proper lines with them. Get your particular skills functioning properly. Solitude is best in p.m. when you can do some interesting or important studying.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Act quickly on whatever will make conditions at home much better in a.m., but make sure you do not start an argument there in p.m. Get the gadgets that will make your home more smooth running. Take the exercise you need in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into the work that will make your life more affluent and pleasant in the future, then enjoy some hobby you like in p.m. Correspondence should be handled early and well. Don't take risks of any kind today or tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talk over with that expert you know just how to improve your financial position and make sure that you do not overspend, overinvest later. Improve budget and any property you may own. Avoid one who gets on your nerves.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) During the day you get excellent ideas for gaining your finest personal aims, so follow through on them, but tonight take it easy. Group meetings are good until 5 p.m. Accomplish much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Meet with experts to plan to have more success in the future and forget all that gadding about socially for now. Evening is not good for coming to definite decisions. Lend a helping hand to one who needs it badly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can reach a time understanding with others during day, but reserve the evening for your own kind of quiet amusement. Quietly state to others your personal aims now. Gain the cooperation of others easily.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who is a born organizer and therefore the education should be slanted along such lines since the greatest success can come from such specialized avenue of expression. Your youngster will always want to know the real motive and plans behind any work before putting all of his or her effort into it. The success can be as big as the expectations are. Give good spiritual training early, though.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

"If I ramble, just bring me back and don't write it all down because you won't have enough pads," he advised the scribes.

Paar, who left NBC's "Tonight" show in 1962 after five lively years, starts doing "Jack Paar Tonight" for ABC next Jan. 8 at 11:30 p.m.

Dick Cavett, who occupied that time slot on a weekly basis until laid low by ratings, now will do his show just one week each month. Assorted comedy, dramatic and variety shows will fill the intervals between the Paar and Cavett weeks.

Paar emphasized that he agreed to do his shows for ABC only on the provision that the network retain Cavett's services.

"And it was not a demand," Paar continued, adding that his contracts with ABC specify that "because of our mutual interest in Dick Cavett, he will be given the same amount of time as me.

Paar gave Cavett his start as a writer on the old NBC "Tonight" show.

Then he revealed, possibly for the first time, that he's seen Johnny Carson do the "Tonight" show five times at most. He said he doesn't watch the show more often because he really doesn't care for it or the hour it appears in Key Biscayne, Fla., where he now lives.

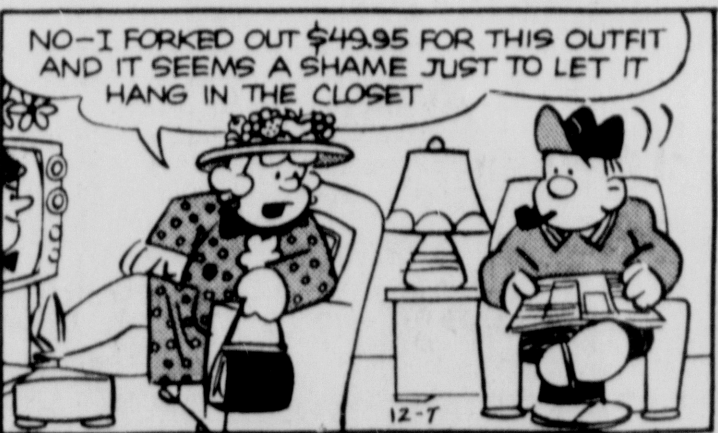

"I have no need for that kind of entertainment," Paar said. "Actually, I don't. I don't have any need for my kind of entertainment. I would actually rather read."

He also predicted that reporters would start writing stories about a Paar-Carson ratings battle and added: "It's most unfair if you do it that kind of way, but what the hell. It's a story."

The questions and answers went on and on. At one point, a writer asked: "Jack, what do you think of the new permissiveness in television?"

It was an absorbing press conference. I kid you not.
